Want to own some of Marvel?

Stock in biggest comics company to go on sale

By Maggie Thompson

Marvel Entertainment Group, Inc. has filed a registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission, according to a listing in The Wall Street Journal May 15. The notification said the initial offering would be 3.5 million common shares via Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., and The First Boston Corp.

Since the registration process typically takes approximately six to eight weeks, it is anticipated that the public will be able to purchase the stock some time in July.

Application is being made to allow the stock to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Marvel Entertainment Group was bought for $82.5 million Jan. 6, 1989, from New World Entertainment and is owned by the Andrews Group which is owned by MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings Inc. — which is, in turn, owned by financier Ronald Perelman. [MacAndrews & Forbes later bought New World, too.]

The cover of the prospectus indicated that the price of the initial issue is currently expected to be somewhere between $14 to $16 per share. The portion of Marvel being offered to the public is somewhere around 25-35% of the firm.

For the first time, investors can buy the company — and they can buy the whole thing, not just a company that owns a comic-book publishing company.

But I Digress

The Muppets in 3-D

By Peter David

There have been many occasions where I've seen a film and thought to myself that it had "sequel potential" written all over it. My feelings on such a possibility generally varies with the quality of the movie (I dread a sequel to Darkman; I've been waiting for the [forthcoming] sequel to Terminator for years.)

But never before had I seen a film which I knew could never have a sequel and which left me wistful over the prospect of possibilities forever unfulfilled.

Never, until I saw The Muppets in 3-D.

Not in your local theaters, you say? It won't be. The only place where you can catch the Muppet 3-D film is in Disneyworld, in the Dis-

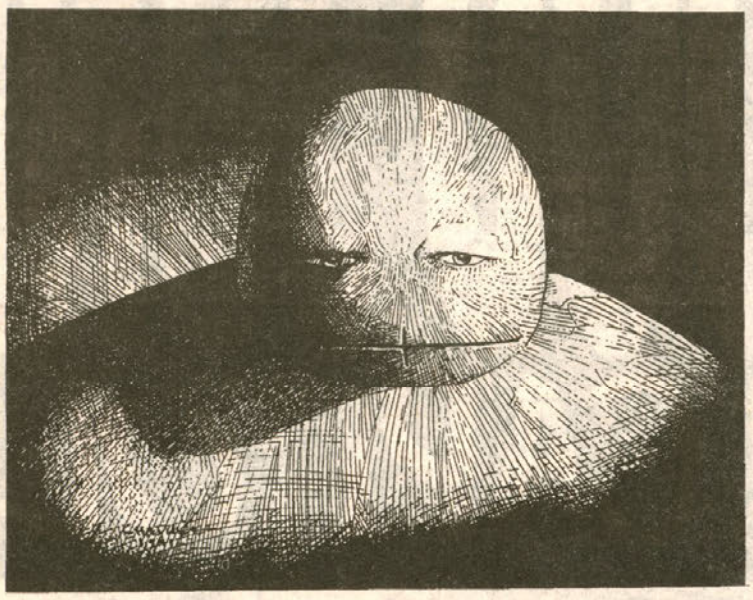
Rocketeer blasts off at Golden Apple

Dave Stevens, Russ Heath, Neal Adams, Ray Zone to appear

The "Rocketeer Summer" will begin its countdown on Saturday, June 8, between 1 and 3 p.m. when Golden Apple (7711 Melrose Avenue in Hollywood) is host of a special presentation.



Featured in person will be Dave Stevens, creator of the popular character — as well as Russ Heath and Neal Adams, artists on Disney's official graphic novel and the 3-D adaptation, respectively.

"We're really excited about the movie opening," said Bill Liebowitz, owner of Golden Apple. "We've been working with Dave and the Disney people to provide our customers with some real treats. Because of his commitment to the movie, Dave has not been able to do many personal appearances in the last several years. Russ and Neal are legendary creators who do not normally do personal appearances — particularly Neal, who has not done a store signing in L.A. in 12 years, and has rearranged his impossibly busy schedule just to show his support for the project."

During the afternoon, members of the cast and crew will be on hand to autograph a giant "Rocketeer" mega-banner, which will be on display throughout the summer.

"And just to be sure that no one gets bored," continued Liebowitz, "Ray 'Mr. 3-D' Zone will be on hand to explain the 3-D process used on Neal's book — and there will be a display of the Rocket Pack used in the movie, along with behind-the-scenes and movie preview videos. Disney is providing free promotional items for all attendees and we've gotten assurances that we'll have a complete line of merchandise (comics, dolls, T-shirts, pin, buttons, posters, cookie jars, etc.) on sale at the event."

The Rocketeer movie based on Dave Stevens' comic-book character opens on June 2 nationwide. It is being touted as one of the summer's biggest hits.

'Concrete' painting featured on 'Blast!'

Blast! #4, the first direct-sale issue of John Brown Publishing's international anthology, will have an oil painting of Concrete by Paul Chadwick as its cover.

The cover also is reproduced in full color as a poster in the center pages.

Blast! #4 ships Sept. 1 and will sell for $3.95 in the United States. It will have 64 pages, 24 of them in color.

In the rest of the issue, the cyberpunk Lazarus Churchyard wakes up in the dataset to find Virtual Heaven has been destroyed; Charles Burns' Dog Boy tells how he acquired all his strange habits; Torpedo stars in "Dumbo" and learns that in his business "you can't even trust a corpse"; and Michael T. Gilbert's Mr. Monster digs up "The Case of the Reluctant Werewolf" from his files.

There also will be a Speakeasy insert.

Woody Woodpecker celebrates birthday

Harvey Comics is celebrating Woody Woodpecker's 50 years with Woody Woodpecker 50th Anniversary Summer Special #1, a 64-page issue featuring art and story by creator Walter Lantz. Featured along with Woody Woodpecker are Knothead, Winnie, Splinter, Andy Panda, Buzzy Buzzard, and Chilly Willy. Woody Woodpecker 50th Anniversary Summer Special #1 is scheduled to ship in June for $2.50.

Rex Miller signs with Simon & Schuster

Rex Miller, author of the Jack Eichord detective series, has signed a two-book contract with Simon & Schuster, whose Pocket Books Division was high bidder for Miller's new "Chaingang" novel, which was auctioned for an undisclosed sum. Both the books called for in the new contract will center on the Chaingang character, but otherwise will not be part of the Eichord series. The first novel will be published in 1992. The second book is in outline form at present.

These two book sales give Miller a total of "around 30 stories" currently slated for publication, as of spring 1991.

Other books in various stages of marketing include a pair of manuscripts described as "mainstream crime novels," to be published in hardcover under another name.

A fifth novel, not yet marketed, is also in the rough outline stage. As with the completed crime novels, this book will be unrelated to his earlier work.

On the international scene Bastei Lubbe will release the first Miller novel in German translation, Im Namen des Todes, and the latest foreign rights deal is with Pan Books, which will publish Slice, an Eichord title out of sequence, within a few weeks. Arnoldo Mondadori Editore is doing the series in Italian, and Profane Men — A Novel of Viet Nam, will be remarketed in the UK.

Miller said he has "roughly two dozen short pieces" slated for publication, half of them non-fiction pieces for various trade publications such as The

Gary Larson wins NCS Reuben Award

The National Cartoonists Society has given its Cartoonist of the Year Award — the Reuben, named for the late Rube Goldberg — to Gary Larson, creator of The Far Side.

Ed McGeean called CBG from Florida with news of the winners of this year's awards, which were presented aboard the S.S. Sunward II on an NCS cruise near the Bahamas on May 18.

Winners in the various categories were as follows:

- Strip/panel: Art Sansom for The Born Loser.
- Editorial/sports: Pat Oliphant.
- Magazine: Harry Devlin.
- Electronic media: Chuck Jones (for the second consecutive year).
- Commercial: Steve DuQuette.

HORROR YOU TODAY, FANS?

I'm Eval Reising, host of that scintillating talk show, "Horror You Today," making it s debut in the first issue of Maggots! My first guest will be fellow Maggots emcee, Prof. Zschiesche, who has an interesting tale concerning...well, how he came to be. It's written by John Clark and Bruce Hamilton, with eye-grabbing graphics by Joe Staton. Joe also illustrates "Sore Spot," a nice bit of science-gone-hysterical written by Jack C. Harris and offered by Prof. Zschiesche as his debut hosting chore. There's also Madraven Stark's "The Big Greasy," written by Matt Wayne and drawn by Steve Stiles, while "Scary-Go-Round," written by Gary Leach and drawn by Alfredo Alcala, and "Caged In," written by Link Yaco and drawn by Batton Lash, round out the book. Now, I'm a skeptic when it comes to the weird and the fantastic, so don't think I swallow any of the wild goings-on in these stories. But I'll stick around, even if Madraven likens my personality to "a week-old jello mold!"

Introducing: Deathwind

By Lorenzo Lizana

Deathwind is the story of Joseph Highplain, assistant curator at a museum of Indian culture. He is the sworn protector of his tribe.

He is imbued with the powers of the Wayanasha (Thunderbird).

In issue #1, Deathwind battles an ogre who has kidnapped sevral children from Joseph's home town. It also contains the first appearance of Scalpel, a vigilante unlike any others.

Deathwind begins in early June. It is a black-and-white comic book priced at $2.50.

It is published by Artline Studios, co-created by Lorenzo Lizana and Scott Newhouse. The art is by Lizana, the story by Newhouse. Check it out.

Antique Trader Weekly and Mystery Scene. The other half are short stories which will appear in genre anthologies such as Borderlands II, Cold Blood, Dead Elvis, Freak Show, Masques IV, Midnight Graffiti Anthology, Murder by Invitation, Night Crimes, Shock Rock, Slashers, Whispers, and others not yet formalized.

He said that Northstar Publishing (now allied with Comico) will eventually continue with the limited-edition comic book Rex Miller's Chaingang and intends to do a graphic novel.

Miller said he has finished all of his pending short-story contracts with the exception of his first two collaborative pieces, which are being done with Ed Gorman (for Night Crimes), and Jessie Horsting (for the Midnight Graffiti anthology). The completed body of work includes his first "Durrell" trilogy, which comprises stories inspired by comic book "infinity" covers. The first of these, "Untitled Still Life with Infinity Perspective" is to appear in several editions of Masques IV, to be published by John and Joyce Maclay, and which continues in one of the Dark Harvest anthologies edited by Martin H. Greenberg and in Stuart David Schiff's Whispers.

Miller was singled out, along with Stephen King, Paul Theroux, Bret Easton Ellis, and James Ellroy, as one of five fiction writers named in the Newsweek cover story "Violence Goes Mainstream" (April 1, 1991). His anti-censorship piece, "Interview with the [Censored] Vampire," appears in the current issue of Gauntlet.

Miller, who credited his quick success (he wrote his first novel in 1986) to the encouragement of his mentor, Harlan Ellison, and his agent-teacher, Richard Curtis, has been a Comics Buyer's Guide advertiser continuously for more than 20 years.

Miller said of his customers, "I hope to be able to repay my long-time customers for their years of friendship and patronage. My mail-order business has allowed me to embark on a fulfilling new career in post-middle-age, and I heartily recommend it as a vocation.

"In the near future my goal is to make available some kind of by-the-numbers primer on how to sell collectibles through the mail. I've done the groundwork on this project but it still isn't quite right — and I want this to really be useful. Mail order, in particular, provides a fine adjunct to the store owner dealing in comic books or related merchandise.

"I intend to make the trade secrets I've learned in the last quarter century available to those who might wish to earn their living in this manner, but who — perhaps — might suffer from undercapitalization. The nice part is that even when the economists are crying 'recession,' mail order collectibles remain a richly lucrative field. There are always collectors with disposable income — whatever the financial climate."

He said he hoped to market a mail order treatise in the coming year.

New 'Terminator' released with movie

Dark Horse has completed a Terminator: One Shot. This issue includes full-color paintings and a full-color, 3-D construction/collage piece for the cover by Matt Wagner, plus other special effects. Shipping is scheduled to coincide with the theatrical release of Terminator 2, for $5.95.

Judge Dredd arrests the Recession

Judge Dredd The MegaZine, a monthly comic book published in the United Kingdom by Fleetway, has defied the current magazine sales slump by maintaining a 55,000 circulation for the past eight months.

Launched last September, the MegaZine features Britain's most successful science-fiction comic-strip character, Judge Dredd: judge, jury, and executioner of the future metropolis, Mega-City One.

Issues #8 and #9 of the MegaZine will begin three stories and introduce what Fleetway called "characters for the '90s," in addition to chronicling the further adventures of Judge Dredd.

• "Red Razors," written by Mark Millar and illustrated by Steve Yeowell, is a story of glasnost gone mad set in 22nd-century Moscow. American junk culture has swamped the Soviet Mega City where law enforcement Judges are recruited from savage street gangs. When four rock-and-roll fans from Mega-City One steal the sacred corpse of Elvis Presley, it's up to Judge Razors and his talking Horse Comrade Ed to rescue the King's remains.

• "Armitage," written by Dave Stone and illustrated by Sean Philips, is described as "a gritty, hard-boiled detective thriller which is set in the dark back streets and alleys of 22nd-century London."

"The Straitjacket Fits" by David Bishop and Roger Langridge is described as "a hilarious new story in the best tradition of Mad magazine set in the psychiatric psycho-cubes of Mega-City One" and as "a tale of multiple fits which follows the frustrated efforts of Dr. Drongo Stabbins to cure a ward full of 'future-shocked' citizens."

Continuing features include "Al's Baby" (the story of a pregnant hitman) and "The Adventures of Young Death" (the boyhood of a super-fiend).

American readers will be able to see the publication for themselves in June when Fleetway launches the American-format Judge Dredd the MegaZine at $4.95 a copy. This will be followed in October by the joint DC Comics and Fleetway publication of Judgement on Gotham, a Judge Dredd-Batman team-up

MARVEL
(From Cover)

In the case of both DC and Disney Comics, for example, the comic-book company is a subsidiary of a publicly held organization [Time-Warner and The Walt Disney Company]; in the case of Marvel, it is shares of Marvel Entertainment Group itself that will be offered; the proposed NYSE symbol for Marvel in its listings will be "MRV."

Supposing a comics collector wants to own Marvel stock, how can he or she go about it?

Buying one share would be cost-prohibitive. Small purchases usually involve significant broker's fees; investors frequently buy 100 or more shares at a time.

A prospectus can be obtained from the underwriters — Merrill Lynch and First Boston.

Editorial

By Don and Maggie Thompson

We're going to call on a point of personal privilege here and use this space to vent our spleens, air our gripes, and avoid cliches like the plague.

Every once in a while, you either sit and gnaw your knuckles in rage or let out the rage with a gripe. Our knuckles can't take it this week, so we've got to pause this week to let it out.

We've hit our limit of people who say, "Thanks, but —" or, worse yet, use what they apparently intended to be thanks as a chance to slam the favor that's been done — in effect, saying "Thanks for going out of your way to do me a personal favor, but I wish you'd done even more for me." That's not as ingratiating as some people apparently think.

"Thanks for running it, but the art didn't come out looking the way we thought it would" or "At last you people who have totally ignored our Hubris Comics line have deigned to print an extensive story on our new projects" don't warm the cockles of our hearts. Nor would that sort of "thanks" warm anyone else's cockles, we'd bet.

If you can't say "thanks" and mean it, say nothing. No "thanks" is better than "thanks, but," at least as far as we're concerned.

On another topic, we would like to restate our policy on anonymous and pseudonymous mail: We do not read it and we do not print it; we throw it away, which is what the cowardly jerks who wrote these letters whould have done, if they had had any brains.

In addition to despising the scuttling cowards who write anonymous letters or make anonymous phone calls — the kinds of slime who make up lynch mobs — we operate under the assumption that the writers of anonymous letters know they are wrong; otherwise they would leave the recipient with a chance to respond.

We stressed that we discard anonymous mail unread in an earlier editorial. (Yes, we really do skim each letter to see if it's signed before we read it and, if it is not signed, we toss it, unread, into one of our three large wastebaskets — we get so much mail that all three are filled each day, mostly with envelopes.)

We apparently should have added that we have no truck with pseudonymous mail, either. A couple of years ago, Don aroused the ire of a nutsoid comic-book letterhack and the letterhack wrote nasty letters under his own name and a supportive letter under a pseudonym, fooling no one but himself.

Recently, a different writer sent us a letter under an obviously phony name and followed that up with separate Fan Awards ballots, one under the pseudonym and another under his real name — naturally, both ballots were tossed and neither was tallied. (Try that in the New Hampshire gubernatorial elections and see what it gets you.) He needs to follow the advice contained in his pseudonym.

Recently, we received an extremely impolite letter from someone who demanded to know why we had not printed his press release. We removed his name, address, and all other identifying matter and ran his letter, complete with misspelled words, with an answer. In response, we received a letter in which he screamed his outrage at our "rejection letter" and denied misspelling any words (in his letter he misspelled some of the same words as in the original), then a second letter under another name in which he pseudonymously supported himself against us while misspelling some of the same words he used in the previous letters.

He also incorrectly assumed — both as himself and as his "supporter" — that the response was written solely by Don. To which we can only respond, in the letter writer's native language: "Oink."

Well, that's a load off. We'll try to be cheerier next week.

Back in June 1990, you printed my research and findings about the first appearance of The Sandman. Copyright Office correspondence confirmed that New York World's Fair Comics 1939 predated Adventure Comics #40 by 42 calendar days.

My assertion and proof was reviewed by Bob Overstreet until he finally relented and noted the change in the latest Price Guide. Sort of. Overstreet did not change the summary of important Golden Age Books in the front of the guide, nor did he list Fair '39 in the "50 Most Valuable" section. The summary section still shows Adventure Comics #40 as Sandman's first appearance. He did note that Fair '39 was the first "printed" appearance of Sandman, but he also stated that Adventure #40 has the first "conceived" story. Why muddy the water? First appearance is first appearance. Fair '39 is also the first "cover" appearance of Sandman.

Let me state that I appreciate Overstreet's caution in reviewing the data I have provided. A person of his station and position in the comics industry must be careful before changing comic-book history lest he have to recant later.

Overstreet then told me that he had succeeded in contacting Vincent A. Sullivan who, in 1939, was the editor of New York World's Fair Comics 1939. Bob asked Sullivan who created The Sandman, and also asserted that he felt the story in Adventure #40 was the first to be conceived. Vincent Sullivan's reply was that he himself had created Sandman and, based on his opinion, Sandman's first printed appearance was in Fair '39. Nothing was said by Sullivan about which story was conceived first.

I then wrote to Sullivan myself to be sure exactly what was meant — specifically, that Sandman's first appearance was in Fair '39. At the same time, I asked why Batman was not used. (I have wondered why Batman, supposedly DC's first non-superpowered hero, wasn't featured.)

I received Sullivan's response May 16, 1991. In it he confirmed that, "To the best of knowledge, Sandman did appear first in the World's Fair Comics of 1939 — it just so happened to have been selected from a number of features purchased to run in Adventure Comics."

Sullivan's answer about using Batman in Fair '39, though, was shattering. He stated that, "Preparation for these periodicals began several months prior to their publication dates. Batman came on the scene well after the World's Fair [comic] book had been distributed." Wow! Based on this statement, The Sandman was conceived and executed prior to Bob Kane's Batman. This seems to make sense, when you remember that the Fair '39 comic book was the first all-original-story super-hero annual that DC produced. As such, and more specifically to capitalize on the 1939 World's Fair, it was to be no ordinary endeavor. It was at least twice as big as an ordinary comic book and was aggressively and expensively priced at 25¢. The writers, artists, and editor who created this comic book needed extra time because of the sheer size and scope of it to have it ready to go for the opening of the World's Fair April 20, 1939. The Sandman was ready to go. Batman wasn't.

The comic-book firmament is shaking. Batman isn't the first non-superpowered costumed super-hero DC produced. It is Sandman. My proof comes from the editor of Fair '39 himself, Vincent A. Sullivan.

The biggest problem in the comic-book business today is that comic-book publishers still think of their audience as a bunch of 10-year-old boys who will outgrow comics in a couple years, anyway, and most comic-book fans behave in ways that do nothing to dispell this belief.

If comics publishers wanted a long-term relationship with loyal readers, they would concentrate on quality, variety, and consistency. Many publishers (DC and Dark Horse come to mind) actually do this with a large part of their output. But almost all publishers, including these, employ hit-and-run marketing tactics with the bulk of their product. A couple manifestations of this attitude:

• Proliferation of hot characters or concepts. Whenever something becomes popular, it floods the market, usually followed closely by imitations from other publishers. One Justice League (mutant, Batman, Spider-Man, Punisher) comic book sold well, so why not three or four? It is as if they think they have to cash in on the concept fast, before our short attention spans wander on to the next fad, so they saturate the market.

And we reward them by buying it — at least for a while. Eventually, most hot concepts cool, often killing themselves with the very glut of material printed to capitalize on them. The result: Shelves are filled with all-too-similar comics based on whatever or whoever is hot today.

High quality and moderate quantities might keep loyal readers around for years, but publishers kill every golden goose they get their hands on and forcefeed us on goose until we are sick of it.

I liked Justice League once a month. Twice a month was my limit. When the third comic book came out, I dropped them all.

I was on the verge of doing the same with Batman last summer when it was coming out twice a month (which is, incidentally, semi-monthly, not bi-monthly).

• Too many shortlived series. Hope springs eternal in the hearts of comic-book fans. It doesn't take much hype from Marvel or DC to lead us to believe the next new series will satisfy all the hopes that the last one disappointed before it was canceled. Because of this, they know they can rake in the dollars on the early issues of a new series.

So, instead of making the old series good enough to survive, they take the easy way out: They cancel it and bring out a new comic book that is guaranteed to sell, with a #1 on the cover.

A comic-book reader notices this pattern after a few years and becomes skeptical of all new series. But, since most readers are kids who were not reading comics two years ago and will not be reading them two years from now, they will never catch on, anyway.

The second biggest problem is that there are just too many comic books being published. Marvel and DC are getting a lot of help from emerging independents on this score. With so much product on the shelves:

• Reader dollars are spread too thin, making it difficult for anything new to earn a profit.

• Reader attention is spread too thin. I can't keep up with everything that is being produced, and I am sure I have missed some good series in the flood of product. "Comics in Your Future" helps, but is not perfect. (Why, for example, has Slave Labor not been listed recently? Because of my reliance on "CiYF," I almost missed the latest issue of Tales from the Heart.)

• Retailer dollars are spread too thin. Retailers can no longer order everything, and they order only a few copies of most independents. The result is that most readers never see most of the comic books that are published.

• To the extent that the flood is coming from the bigger companies (Marvel's multiple-cover Spider-Man and X-Men first issues, for instance), it is killing diversity. By soaking up large shares of readers' spending on super-heroes, they leave less for alternative comics. This, in turn, keeps away the many potential readers who might be drawn to a less superhero-oriented comic-book market.

The third problem is that too many good comic books do not sell well. Naturally, the younger, superhero-oriented portion of the comic-book audience cannot be blamed for passing up material not aimed at it.

But why do so many good comic books have so much difficulty finding an audience, even among more mature readers? Inadequate exposure and publicity? Unwillingness by readers to try something different? An attitude that comics are only for investment, rather than reading? A preference for comic books that are escapist fluff rather than mind-provoking art? A belief by potential readers that good, mature stories cannot be found in the comic-book medium? Probably bits of all these things, plus others I haven't thought of.

I really don't know what can be done about it, though. As long as comic-book publishers can make money catering to a ghetto of immature super-hero fans, they will continue to do so. And until comic books overcome the image of being super-hero stories for kids, the audience for mature comic books will not grow. It looks like a catch-22 to me.

On to other subject. The first movie I saw in the theater was Walt Disney's Lady and the Tramp — probalby in the mid-1960s.

Can anyone tell me if the TV series Kung-Fu with David Carradine is airing nowadays on any cable stations?

[As it states in the introduction to "Comics in Your Future," any company which has not published anything in a long period will be dropped from the list. Slave Labor went a long time between issues and was dropped for a while.]

A few mental Cheerios to add to the great Cereal Bowl of Life.

Michael Parks might like to know that the actor who played Walter Raleigh in the "Potato" espisode of Blackadder II was Simon Jones, best known for playing Arthur Dent in The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy. Americans may also recognize him from Monty Python's The Meaning of Life (he played a guest at the dinner party that Death barged in on) and an episode of Newhart (he played a guest on Dick Loudon's TV show who provoked an on-air insult from the usually reserved host).

Next, another theory on why Mighty Mouse failed: the concept seemed guaranteed to alienate everyone. Many older readers (including me, for a while) assumed the comic book was aimed at pre-teens; but I doubt many pre-teens appreciated the humor of parodying comics and storylines geared for older readers. So here was a comic book older readers wouldn't buy and younger readers wouldn't get. All in all, I think Tiny Toon Adventures does a better job of providing humor for all ages.

The recent Superman Earth Day special seems to have a similar self-destructive mentality. The story was good, if a bit preachy, but the Prestige Format will probably put off anyone but diehard Superman fans. DC might have done better to have slotted the story in one of the regular Super-titles.

A final format note: since the price and format of OMAC is being reconsidered, I'd like to suggest the Special Format DC used for World without End. The paper quality seems identical to Prestige but, since it's stapled and not squarebound, it can sell for half the price of a Prestige book.

Lastly, this month marks the fifth

Eisner Award Time!

Eclipse Books, Creators Get Nominations

The inital ballots are in, and among those nominated as tops in the field for 1991's Will Eisner Comic Industry Awards are a host of Eclipse books and Eclipse creators. The awards, which have been in existence since 1988, are administered by the San Diego Comic Convention and are based solely on quality, not on popularity.

The nominations for best material published in 1990 were determined by preliminary ballots completed by comics editors, publishers, and distributors. Final voting is done by comics writers and artists and by retail store owners around the country. The winners will be announced at this year's San Diego Comic Convention, July 4-7.

Scott McCloud's Zot! #33, the controversial story "Normal" about gay teenagers, is nominated for best single issue or story, and Zot! itself is nominated for both Best Black and White Series and Best Continuing Series. Creator Scott McCloud is named in the Best Writer category.

Miracleman is also nominated for Best Continuing Series, and its writer, Neil Gaiman, is named in the Best Writer category as well.

Eclipse publishes three out of five titles in the Best Finite Series category, with The Hobbit, The Magic Flute, and Tapping The Vein all up for honours. P. Craig Russell, artist on both The Magic Flute and Tapping The Vein is nominated as Best Artist.

The Will Eisner Comic Industry Awards

Daniel Brereton, painter of The Black Terror, is also on the Best Artist list, and Eddie Campbell, creator of The Complete Alec, is nominated for Best Writer/Artist.

Among the nominees for the Hall of Fame whose work has been published by Eclipse are Steve (Tales of the Mysterious Traveler) Ditko, Bob (Batman & Me) Kane, and Alex (Zorro) Toth.

"It's a pleasure to know that your work is appreciated," says editor-in-chief Cat Yronwode. "Being nominated for the Eisner Awards is an honour industry professionals pay to each other, regardless of what company publishes the work, and Eclipse is proud to work with creators held in such high regard by their own colleagues."

Dirty Pair Go Ear-less!

Dirty Pair II Collection Says Goodbye To Bunny Girls

Dirty Pair fans will get their chance at a variant edition of the Lovely Angels when the Dirty Pair II mini-series is collected as Dangerous Acquaintances. Key scenes in the collection have been redrawn by artist Adam Warren, turning Kei and Yuri's bunny girl costumes into more generic hostess attire.

"Playboy was not as amused as we were by the Dirty Pair's donning of the bunny girl costumes," explains collection editor Valarie Jones. "We made the changes at their request."

"In Japan, the bunny girl costume is considered just that—a bunny girl costume, not a trademark of Playboy," notes original series editor Fred Burke. "It's almost ubiquitous in Tokyo bars—or at least that's what the world-travelers tell me."

Dirty Pair: Dangerous Acquaintances introduces Shasti, the genetically engineered assassin with multiple personalities who wowed manga fans last year.

In addition to the art changes, Dirty Pair: Dangerous Acquaintances features a beautiful new cover painting by Warren. Dirty Pair: Dangerous Acquaintances retails for $11.95 in softover, $29.95 in hardcover, and $45.00 for a singed and numbered limited edition hardcover. The 136-page black and white album is in the standard comics format.

THIS IS FIT TO PRINT NUMBER 367: Remember my BIG•BIG QUESTION, about the vaudeville routine based on a German song in which a teacher leads his class in identifying items? Well, the name of the song is "Schnitzelbank" and here's what folks told me about it:

RICH MARKOW, DC Comics, NYC, NY: "The earliest recording may be by The Avon Comedy Four, a quartet that included two singers who also performed as the duo Smith and Dale. The vaudeville act in which it appeared was called 'The Professor's Birthday.'"

RICHARD HALLIBURTON, Perris, CA: "It is a German folk-type song in which people learned a language lesson by repeating the response. In my grandparents' younger days it was played on a local Cincinnati radio program called 'Across the Rhine,' popular with the German community there."

JOHN C. LA RUE, JR., Louisville, KY: "In a book called Kidnap, about the Lindbergh case, author George Waller [calls it] 'the Schnitzelbank song that enlivened German-American beer halls in Manhattan, a descendent of old German rhymed lessons' " and gives then-current verses relating to "exhibits of evidence at the trial, which was exhaustively reported at the time."

DAVE DYROFF, St. Louis, MO: "My father is certain the song predates vaudeville. It is an old German children's folk song and is frequently used in the U.S. in German classes."

VINNIE BARTILUCCI, Elmont, NY: "It is sung in both nurseries and beer halls...and, like 'Old MacDonald,' it can go on forever...We learned it on a German Night [in high school]."

KEN HOLDEN, Malvern, PA: "It is a repetitious song on the order of '99 Bottles of Beer on the Wall.'"

JULI THOMPSON, Madison, WI: "I learned it in high school German...A German lady of my acquaintance [says] it is unknown in Germany. She thinks it is a Pennsylvania Dutch song designed to teach German words to children."

RANDY SCOTT, Michigan State University Libraries, East Lansing MI, sent me actual sheet musicfor the song, complete with instructions for how the teacher-pupil parts are to be enacted!

"Schnitzelbank" translates as carpenter's workbench and the song consists of naming and repeating a string of incongruous rhyming items, such as "Grosser Fisch" and "Kleiner Tisch" (large fish and little table), adding each pair to the preceding pair until returning to the Schnitzelbank. Randy's sheet music (apparently from the 1920s and curiously subtitled "The International Get-Together Song") contains a full set of pictures for the "Leader" to point to ("with a stick") while acting out his part. This makes me doubt it is a "folk song" in the usual sense of that term, for no true folk song would require illustrations (of women's legs, beer steins, large eggs, and the like) and a stick to point them out while singing.

All the wonderful people listed above have my thanks and Valuable Eclipse Prizes for helping me on this.

An Eclipse Prize also goes to LARRY STANLEY of Valley Comics Update, for answering a subsidiary question posed while pondering the "Schnitzelbank" problem. Larry says that according to the University of Ohio's Microbiology Handbook, the bad breath and tooth decay bacteria whose genus name i forgot is Actinomyces Naeslundii.

I feel much better now, knowing that. It was weird waking up, feeling the scum on my tongue and teeth, and going "Naeslundii, Naeslundii" but never knowing what genus the darned thing belongs to! Now, thanks to CBG's fine research support, i can wake up, feel the scum on my teeth and tongue, go "Actinomyces Naeslundii, Actinomyces Naeslundii" all the way to the bathroom, brush the little buggers off, and hop into the shower singing, "Ist das nicht ein Schnitzelbank? Ya das ist ein Schnitzelbank!"

And life is very, very good.

Heading this time by JOE GROSHEK.

Eclipse Books, Clive Barker Hit Fangoria Horror Event

Fans Wild For Illustrator, Tapping The Vein Series

Fangoria's Weekend of Horrors came to Los Angeles May 18-19, and Eclipse Books and Clive Barker were there with a three hour signing that saw over four hundred fans meet the author, get an autograph, and have a chance to get their pictures taken for posterity.

Editor Valarie Jones and Eclipse staffer Fred Schiller kept the line, which stretched around the dealer's room, moving peaceably, while distribution manager Ted Adams sold hundreds of books and graphic albums to a Clive-starved public. Clive Barker, Illustrator author Fred Burke was also on hand to autograph the Eclipse/Arcane coffee table volume of Barker's artwork—a book which garnered praise throughout the convention.

"We got a nice round of applause during Clive's talk Saturday afternoon," Burke says, "when Clive noted that Eclipse would be adapting all of The Books of Blood [Barker's six volumes of short stories]."

Perhaps the most astonishing point in the convention occurred when a daring young woman had Barker autograph her right breast. The next day she returned, with the signature freshly tattooed, to show her new decoration to the Eclipse crew. "What can I say?" says Jones. "I wonder if this ever happens to Madonna?

"Fans were very eager to pre-order Pandemonium," Jones also notes. She quickly distributed hundreds of flyers for the soon to be published volume, which collects interviews and essays on Barker alongside the never before published play "The History of The Devil." Pandemonium will be in print for the San Diego Comic Convention, where Eclipse and Barker will do another appearance and signing.

Barker and Burke also took time to discuss potential artists for a number of upcoming projects. "Clive has very specific desires for the Tapping line from Eclipse," says Burke, "and I try to insure that every upcoming graphic adaptation has his full endorsement and approval. That's the way Eclipse works—with the originators of the material, not against them."

anniversary of my rediscovery of comic books. In May 1986, I read the first two issues of The Dark Knight Returns and was knocked out of my chair. There's a certain symmetry at work here; the first comic book I really remember was a Brave and the Bold story called "The 40-Story Killer," in which Batman and The Metal Men teamed up to stop a band of extortionists who had taken over a skyscraper. (Where's Bruce Willis when you need him?)

You say you want to know what retailers think are the top seven problems in the industry today.

Well here goes—

• Negative media reaction — So what and who cares? How long have we been hearing that comics are not just for kids any more? If that's true, then what's the problem? I as a retailer know if a book is too sexy for a customer and handle it accordingly.

I love how the media have torn apart American Psycho, while the NY Times Book Review has given positive reviews to two other books by recognized authors that cover pretty much the same field, i.e., psycho serial killers. I only wish that I could remember the titles.

The point is that I will sell anything that I do not find personally offensive. I may not sell it to all of my customers but I will carry it if my budget permits. The only title that I have not carried in the past 15 years was DC's Butcher, and I sympathize with the store owner who hated the Clive Barker book with the Marilyn Monroe gory cover. However, I disagree with the reasoning that led him to carry it under the counter. That's the wimp's reaction; if you're offended, why sell it?

Are we, as an industry, doomed to go through life stuck in our childhood? As a child I saw Old Yeller; as an adult I saw The Last Temptation of Christ. Why was there no condemnation of the film industry by the media?

• Difficulty of attracting new readers — A toughie but immaterial in the long run. One aspect of comics I've noticed since I bought my first comic book in 1955 is that either you like and want to read comics or you don't. My sister went through a phase of reading comics — my comics. She wouldn't buy any herself and stopped reading mine somewhere along the line. My four cousins were never interested.

As I see it, the publishers' job is to put out the best product they can for their readers. The public is well aware of the existence of comic books. An apt analogy is Nintendo putting out a series of ads saying "Buy a video game today — you'll like it," or the TV industry doing a similar ad. My reaction is — what's the point?

That is not to say that something is not wrong with the way comics are advertised. There should be much more advertising for specific titles in

HEY P.P. WHY SO GLUM, CHUM?
WELL, I'VE BEEN TRYING TO GET A PUBLISHER TO START COLLECTING MY ADVENTURES. EVERYTHING WAS ALL SET TO GO, AND THEN CBG RETITLED IT'S "BURIED TREASURES" FEATURE.
YEAH, PRETTY CLEVER TITLE TOO, "THE COLLECTIBLE ADVENTURES OF POWERHOUSE PAPER".... oh.
EXACTLY, NOW THE PUBLISHER HAS KILLED THE DEAL. THEY DON'T WANT ANY HASSLE OVER THE NAME.
WELL, MAYBE YOU COULD CHANGE YOUR NAME.
TO WHAT? ORIGAMI-MAN!? WHO'S GONNA BUY A TITLE LIKE THAT?
hmmm... WELL, AT LEAST I WOULDN'T CALL YOU P.P. ANYMORE.

mainstream publications, much like DC did in Rolling Stone for the Batman and Watchmen trade books. The problem, beside the ad cost itself, is having the product in the marketplace to take advantage of what we hope will be increased demand.

The rest of the complaints can be answered in one word — returns. Following is part of a letter I wrote to The Comics Journal in response to its articles on the state of the industry, and it's still just as valid.

I have been in the business as a retailer for more than 15 years and have owned and operated West Side Comics since 1977. I was around when Phil Seuling first started to distribute the new comics and was manager of Supersnipe Comics when it became the second or third direct account with Marvel Comics. I've lived through the various gluts, continuity crises, planes being iced in, and overturned trucks somewhere on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

I can remember when a big week was 39 titles coming out; now it seems that an average of 100 titles come out each and every week. I used to have customers who would buy one each of every title from every company — used to.

In my experience and through talks with other store owners, the following is a somewhat consistent history of all comics stores: After your initial opening, the store's sales will increase to a certain point and then level off at a consistent dollar amount per month. There will be monthly variations: December will always be better than February or March, September will be better than August, etc. Also, this is not taking into account other lines that you can carry; I am just talking about comics here.

So now, it's the first of the month. I receive the new order packet from my distributor, enter the new titles in my computer — I've built my own database on a MacIntosh — and start to compute the numbers for the various titles. It keeps track of all new releases, file customers, and regular stock, not including back issues. When I switch to the next title on the list I also get a graph of past sales for that title including issues not released but already ordered. I also see how much title has grossed. If the title is a re-order, like the various DC or Marvel comics, it will also tell me how many I currently have in stock. I can get an order total when I want divided by Marvel, DC, or Other Companies along with graphs showing monthly sales for the past 13 months. It can't handle point of sales yet, so a physical count has to be made of what's left each week. Sounds pretty good, doesn't it?

First, though, I and every other retailer have only two and a half to three weeks to hand the order back in to the distributor. So what? you say — that should be enough time to order a month's worth of books. It should be but really isn't. In my case I go through the order one time entering figures based on past sales and gut feelings for new releases. Then I run a total and find that they add up to $18,000 retail, and my histories tell me that for that month I can expect to gross $11,000 in comics.

Right here is my quandary. I know that the Marvels and the DCs will pretty much be released on schedule. I can't say the same about any of the independents. Since I'm ordering on a monthly basis and keeping track on that same monthly basis, how can I keep any kind of realistic budget going when I know the following for the truth: At least 50% of the titles will not be in my store when expected and, while most titles will be out in six or seven months, there will have been cases where a title comes in a year after ordering it. How is any retailer supposed to factor that in with an ordering routine?

After I fill in initial numbers it's usually a matter of going over the order again and again, cutting numbers until an optimum total is reached. Using the figures above, somewhere between $12,000 and $13,000 would be optimum. The most bizarre part of this practice is cutting numbers on titles that my computer tells me will sell, because there are always 30-plus new titles that have to be taken into account and ordered.

Month after month, we retailers go through this. And what we usually wind up with as a reward is moaning from both customers and publishers. Why did the store sell out before I got my copy and why doesn't the store order 100 copies of this new comic book from a new publisher?

You can say that copies should be available from your distributor, but it's certainly on a hit-or-miss basis. Whom does it serve when you get your reorder four weeks late, after the title has gone off sale?

I am not blaming distributors in all this; I believe they have a thankless job and non-existent profit margins. Why should they take the chance on ordering excess copies of a title and then having them sit for years on a shelf?

I say that, if publishers really believe in their product, they should put their money where their mouths are and offer product on a returnable basis. Not just special issues here or there: everything. I realize that this will not endear me to any publisher or distributor. Let's look at the facts, though: You as publisher say this will be the hottest comic book since McFarlane's Spider-Man, so I order 100 copies and have 99 left. You're happy — you made your money when that title was ordered (not exactly true but, given that distributors pay when expected, virtually true). You know exactly how many copies to print. You have no downside, as long as enough copies were ordered to give you a profit after costs are deducted, and you know this even before you send the comic book to the printer. And to make it even better, if you do not get enough orders you don't print the comic book or else you re-solicit until you do get enough orders.

But now you are all crying, because you're not getting big enough orders. Well, Marvel with its 60 titles a month accounts for 45%-55% of my monthly sales gross, DC with its 60-70 titles accounts for 25%-30%, all other publishers with their 350+ titles account for the rest. Why should I spend days trying to shoehorn all these titles into my order? It used to be that you wanted to carry every comic book in order to be a "complete comic store" and, if a title didn't sell right away, it probably would eventually.

That is not the case any more; now, if it doesn't sell right away, it probably never will.

If the magazine industry and book-publishing industry survive and grow with a return policy, why can't the comics industry? I can order Batman: The Dark Knight Returns from Warner Books and return what I can't sell, but can't order from DC and expect that same return privilege.

The direct market started on a no-return basis because that was the only way you could become a distributor. Back then the market was really only Marvel and DC. (Archies, Harveys, and Gold Keys were not thought of as the same thing.) Both Marvel and DC were having problems with their own distributors trying to pad their returns one way or another. Phil Seuling must have looked God-sent to The Big Two. Here he was promising to buy all these comic books every month, pay in advance, and not bother them with returns. Even with all that he still had his problems getting it started. As a sidebar it was also the emergence and growth of these distributors that allowed the independents to develop and grow.

That was OK for the time, but look what has developed: For every publisher that has closed, three have taken its place and, sad to say, it's not always the good titles that survive. As things stand now I order fewer and fewer independents every month. You may say educate your customer but the fact is our customers are educated in what they want. They just don't have enough money to buy it all when it's on the stands and I no longer have enough money to let it sit until they do. So I don't order it, and you wonder why your orders keep getting smaller.

It's about time all you publishers, including DC, wise up. Marvel, for good or ill, owns the market. I'm not saying Marvel's comic books are any better — just that it usually has the knack for producing sellers. DC comes up with some interesting concepts, and the Superman and Batman movies certainly gave them exposure. DC is more willing these days to try something new but, sad to say, all this push never translates to the line as a whole, whereas it does with Marvel. Marvel will never give returns until it absolutely has to.

That should not stop other publishers, though. You say your product will sell on the stands; show me that you believe it. If I believe your hype on product, should I be the one to suffer when you're wrong?

I don't mean this letter to sound as harsh as it probably does. It's just that this problem keeps going round and round and I don't see any other solutions except to drop all independents or at least not order any new titles. Another gripe here: I am reaching the point where I believe I should see a copy of the first issue of any new comic book before I will order it. Individual pages or panels don't cut it any more. If you're proud of it, show me; otherwise don't even bother to solicit the title.

The problem with returns is that, first, publishers, distributors, and retailers don't trust each other enough to actually count the books accurately. Second, distributors and publishers are too lazy. I've talked this over with my distributor who has told me, "Taking returns is too much work. We just want to deliver your books and get paid. It takes too long to get credit for books now that Marvel says are returnable. It will be a big headache for us."

I have done some research and played with some numbers and have come to the folowing conclusion. Returns can be handled through an independent company not affiliated with any other segment of the industry, therefore, their counts could be trusted. Returns can actually be profitable for all segments of the industry, if everyone pays attention.

The discount rate would have to be adjusted; now it's about 50%. If you have a leftover ratio of 25% or less with a discount of 40%, you would make more money with the comics returned than if you had your present discount and had to eat them. I have tried to get publishers and distributors behind this for some time without success.

So a short answer to your top seven problems is that two are beyond our means to answer, and — while the other five have the same solution — no one wants to make the effort. I've offered to set up a company to handle the returns and can make all reports within two weeks of the comic books being returned.

If something is not done, I can foresee a time where we could be down to 10 publishers or fewer in the industry. As a retailer I can almost be happy about it, but not as a consumer.

[Without having read American Psycho or knowing the titles of the other two books, we must note that just because two books are about serial killers does not make them the same book. There can be incredibly wide variations in treatment. Both See Here, Private Hargrove and From Here to Eternity are novels about World War II, after all, but they aren't otherwise similar.

We don't know which branches of the media you follow, but we certainly saw and heard a lot of condemnation of the film industry as a whole when The Last Temptation of Christ was being condemned sight unseen. Many vocal protestors were crying out for the reinstatement of movie censorship such as the United States had into the 1960s.

And, since scarcely a week passes without our being called by some reporter who is astonished to discover that comic books are still being published (or "are being published again," as some of them think), we can't agree with your contention that "the public is well aware of the existence of comic books." Since most people never see a comic book unless they go into a comic-book store (and why would you do that, if you had never seen a comic book?), how would the public be aware of their existence?

Both Marvel and DC accept returns — in the newsstand marketplace. Some retailers have managed a hybrid purchasing arrangement in which their primary source is the direct-market distributor (non-returnably) with their back-up source being a newsstand distributor (returnably). We hasten to add that this is not possible to arrange in all situations; it depends on the local newsstand distributor.]

LETTERS

writing so well what I've been feeling about the darkening of DC's comics. With the exception of The Batman, in whose case it is a return to his 50-year-old roots, this is very depressing to me.

Going through the list of comics I buy I find that there are those who have not gone this route. Superman, the Star Trek comic books (luckily, they can't touch them), Wonder Woman, The Shadow (but again, his roots are in darkness), and Starman.

Starman, now there's a hero: A good man, wanting to do good, finding out that it's not that easy, struggling, trying, learning, helping others because it's the right thing to do — in short, being a hero.

As others have said, it may be a phase that has to run its course. But it will be hard to look at Hawkman, Green Lantern, and others the same way again.

Here are some random thoughts about recent events in the comics collecting business. First, I was happy to see the announcement for the new Impact Comics line. I'm glad to see those characters given another chance. One thing I don't really understand is why they aren't being merged into the DC Universe. Is it a copyright problem or just an editorial decision?

I think the comic books would have a better chance at success if they were integrated with the regular DC continuity. Look what DC has done with the Charlton characters. Blue Beetle lost his comic book but is very successful in the Justice League. The Question is still starring in his own title even though it has been dropped to quarterly status. Captain Atom has become a major player in the DC Universe; however, I hear his own title is slipping fast. Of course, not all the characters have been a hit. Peacemaker had a mini-series, then faded away, and practically nothing has been done with Judomaster or Peter Cannon, Thunderbolt. Does DC still own these two?

Speaking of old characters brings to mind the discussion of what to do with Captain Marvel. I would have to say that anything is better than nothing. I know how much people loved the old series, but I, and I'm sure a lot of others, have never read the series. So I wouldn't be disappointed with something different. Anyway, doesn't DC have to use the character to keep their trademark on it?

Next, let's talk X-Men. There has been a lot of complaining lately about this comic book and its related titles. I'll admit it is rather confusing, but it's still a good comic book, especially with Jim Lee doing the art. I'm sure that Chris Claremont had good intentions when he created all of those subplots. If he could have only resolved them. But he just dug the hole a little too deep for him to crawl out. Who knows, maybe he'll manage to straighten some of it out with the new title. Just give him a chance.

Speaking of the new X-Men title, is everyone fed up with these multiple covers, bagged editions, overpriced schemes? The Spider-Man fiasco was really amazing. Sure it was a beautiful comic book, and McFarlane's art was absolutely incredible. But all they did was change the cover inks and put them in cheap bags. At least the X-Men is going to have different cover art. Come on, people, you're only going to read one comic book, cause that's all there is to read. The other comic books have the same story. If you're going to buy five comic books, why not buy five different ones and read five different stories?

I'M TIRED OF WAITING FOR A FREAK ACCIDENT TO BESTOW SUPER POWERS UPON ME.
I'M GOING TO THE NUCLEAR POWER PLANT TO WAIT FOR AN INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT.
KEEP OUT

But when I'm complaining about Marvel's get-as-much-money-as-it-can schemes, I can't forget DC. After all, DC started this with the different-colored covers on Legends of the Dark Knight.

I couldn't end this letter without saying something about Peter David's "But I Digress" column. What can be said but: The man's a genius. This is the best new column ever. Keep it up, and I'm looking forward to his stint on X-Factor.

Before I sign off, I just want to thank Don and Maggie and everyone involved with this publication. It's a source of information and enjoyment I couldn't do without. If anyone is reading this and isn't a subscriber, stop right now and find the subscription information on page 4. Fill it out and send it in. You definitely won't regret it.

[DC bought all the Charlton characters outright, including Peacemaker and Thunderbolt. The Archie characters are leased from Archie and do not belong to DC. DC does have to use Captain Marvel to keep a trademark, but he does not have to be used in his own title (actually, since Marvel holds the trademark on "Captain Marvel," DC's trademark is actually on "Shazam!"). It is sufficient to cover-feature him every couple of years, which DC has been doing — much the same way that Marvel kept its trademark on The Silver Surfer for many years by cover-featuring him on other titles every couple of years.]

I think Marvel Comics' sales schemes for X-Men with its multiple covers and X-Force with its different trading cards, which requires the completist to purchase five copies of the same book, is a blatantly disgraceful marketing ploy.

I understand that comics publishers are in the business to make money and that every year they are under pressure to come up with some new gimmick which will surpass the previous year's sales. And I realize that no one is forcing anybody to buy more than one, or even one, of anything. But Marvel knows its market and realizes that people will be buying all the variations.

So what is this nonsense from Marvel Director of Specialty Sales Lou Bank that they want "to be sure everyone who wanted a copy of X-Men #1 would be able to get one." (CBG #190, April 16, 1991). If they printed three million copies of the exact same comic book, I'd think that everyone who wanted one would be able to get one. But different covers on the exact same comic book or the exact same comic book packaged with a different trading card?

How many people actually believe that Marvel has their best interest at heart and is so sincerely interested in seeing that everybody who wants this comic book can get it? Does Marvel think that people will really believe this? Of course not. Does Marvel care if people believe it? Not at all. These comic books will still sell. Only now, they'll sell five times as many copies. Just Marvel's way of thanking its loyal supporters and fans and squeezing a few extra bucks out of the collectors.

How much more abuse will fandom tolerate? I shudder to imagine what the next step will be. Maybe different endings to the same story. It could be like having a What If? issue coming out along with every title. You could buy the issue variant which ends happily or the variant with the sad ending or the end of another variant could be continued. The possibilities would be endless, so to speak.

[Now you've done it. You've given the publishers an idea of how to get even more money out of the fans. From now on, whatever happens, it's your fault, Stephen]

In these days of Platinum Arachnids and X-Farces, isn't it nice to know the classics are in good hands?. I refer, of course, to DC's Superman titles.

You see, Kal and I go back a long way — to be precise, back to Superman #162 and "The Amazing Story of Superman Red and Superman Blue." I was hooked from that day to this.

From Boring to Byrne I've been there, and since the revamp he's never been better. And now four titles a month, fingers crossed the quality remains (remember Action Comics Weekly). So thanks to Mssrs. Carlin, Ordway, et al. for caring enough. The Big Guy's in good hands.

[As we told DC when it started Action Comics Weekly*, there is a big difference between publishing four different titles a month and publishing one weekly comic book, particularly one with revolving characters and contributors. With the track record Mike Carlin and his Super-team has to date, we aren't expecting another disaster like* Action Comics Weekly*.*

Of course, we never expected anyone to buy The New Warriors*, either.]*

I am hoping that somebody in your readership can help me. Last year I bought my daughter the All Dogs Go to Heaven videocassette. They had a rebate offer in conjunction with Downy. Could somebody please tell me the address that the rebates were sent to? I almost always write down the address. Repeat, almost. This is one of the very few times that I was in a hurry and did not copy it. I would be very grateful for any information. Thank you in advance.

Now, for a reply to your response to my letter that was printed in CBG #907. I planned to read the comics before I put them in the vacuum-sealed bags. I figured that that would be obvious. Also, I stated that I planned to put some of my comics in those bags, not all. I was only going to seal the ones that I had reprints of, such as Amazing Fantasy #15. Believe me, I read all the comics that I buy. I would just like to keep some in better condition than others. And before any would-be burglars decide that they want the above-mentioned comic, my wife says that poor is probably too high of a grade for it. She thinks that a new grade is in order, pitiful.

Thank you for your time, and I hope to hear from you soon.

P.S. Give Peter David and Mark Martin big fat raises; those guys are terrific.

[We agree — about the terrific part, if not about the raises. Incidentally, Peter has never made a cent from "But I Digress..." since all checks for that column are made out to and go directly to the Comic Book Legal Defense Fund. Peter doesn't even take anything for his expenses, which are considerable and include faxing and Federal Express charges.

Anyway, instead of us giving them raises, why don't Peter's fans make a donation to the Comic Book Legal Defense Fund (P.O. Box 501, Princeton, Wis. 54968) or, alternatively, the Comic Legends Legal Defense Fund (P.O. Box 48873, Bentall Station, Vancouver, B.C., Canada V7X 1A8) while Mark's fans rush out and buy a copy or two of The 20 Nude Dancers 20 Sketchbook — which is, indeed, a real book.]

Max Allan Collins to appear on 'Geraldo'

Max Allan Collins, writer of the Dick Tracy comic strip and the Ms. Tree comic-book feature, will appear Wednesday, June 5 on the nationally syndicated TV talk show Geraldo to discuss the Lindbergh kidnapping case. The case is the subject of his new book Stolen Away.

Collins is the author of four previous Nate Heller novels, all of which deal with true crimes; the first, True Detective (1983), won the Best Novel "Shamus" Award from the Private Eye Writers of America, and the three other Heller novels were similarly nominated in their respective years.

20 NUDE DANCERS 20

Oh, So?:

I read with great interest cat yronwode's letter in your May 17, 1991 issue. ms. yronwode is eloquent and convincing as she argues that she is two steps ahead of Gary Groth in her championing of creators' rights. However, I can't help but wonder how serious she really is about the future of comics, since she practically wasted six paragraphs on an argument that started over King Kong, and did not even mention Spider-Man #1 by Todd McFarlane. Perhaps she is more interested in tooling her own horn than in important comic concerns.

Jeff Post

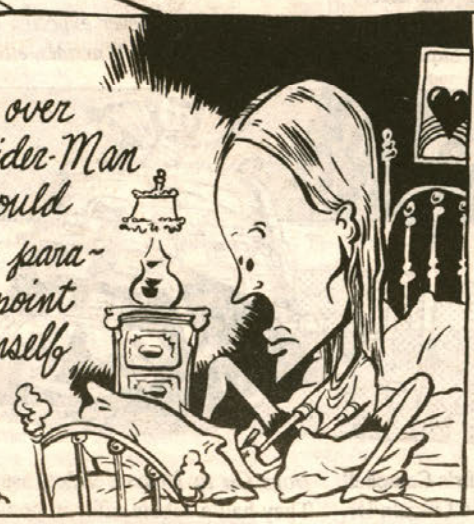
Oh So?: Hey, that Jeff guy is a MORON!! Hey, just where does he get off? Mentioning King KONG in the same paragraph as the GREAT Spider-Man #1 by Todd McFarlane? If I ever meet that Jeff I will SMASH HIM! important comic concerns MY BUTT!

Mr. T Balboa

Oh So?:

Regarding the debate over Todd McFarlane's Spider-Man #1 and the book you should not mention in the same paragraph, I would like to point out that Mr. Balboa himself mentioned them both in the same paragraph

Susie Cue

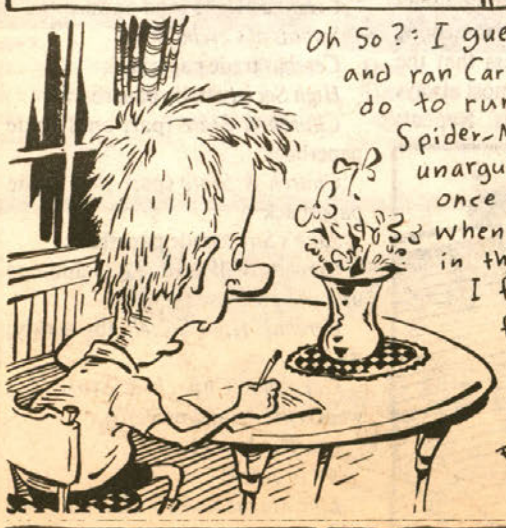


OH SO:

LOOK, YOU GUYS ARE ALL MISSING THE POINT. OF COURSE CAT YRONWODE AND GARY GROTH HAVE EXPOSED THEMSELVES AS POSEURS BY SQUABBLING OVER A TRIVIAL THING LIKE CREATORS' RIGHTS WHILE IGNORING SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE. OF COURSE JEFF POST SHOULD NOT SOIL THE INTEGRITY OF SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE BY MENTIONING IT IN THE SAME PARAGRAPH AS YOU-KNOW-WHAT. OF COURSE SUSIE CUE IS RIGHT TO POINT OUT THAT MR. T BALBOA HAS COMMITTED THE SAME TRANSGRESSION.

BUT A BIGGER PROBLEM HAS BEEN COMPLETELY OVERLOOKED. ANY CRITICAL ANALYSIS OF THE VIRTUES OF THIS WONDERFUL BOOK IS A WASTE OF VALUABLE SPACE... YOU COULD BE RUNNING MORE REPRODUCTIONS FROM THE ACTUAL BOOK!! I SUGGEST RUNNING AS MUCH MATERIAL AS MARVEL WILL ALLOW. DON'T PRINT MY LETTER, PRINT SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE!

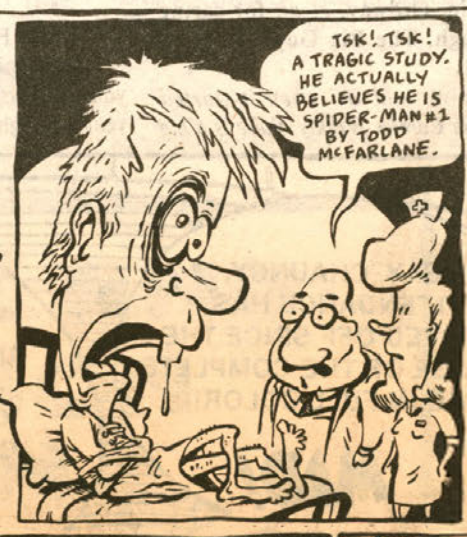
CARL MEOWS



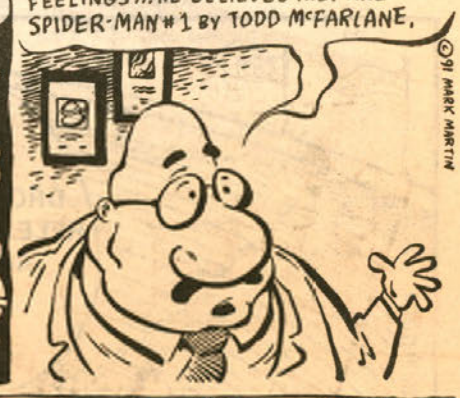
Oh So?: I guess it's just as well you went ahead and ran Carl Meows' letter. What good would it do to run excerpts from Todd McFarlane's Spider-Man #1, or even to read the book? As unarguably GOD-LIKE as TODD McFarlane is, once you finish reading the book, it's over. When I read it, I am totally immersed in the Spider-Man #1 experience, but when I finish it, I'm just me again. As fun as it is to read Spider-Man #1 by Todd McFarlane and discuss it in letter columns, wouldn't it be nice if we could actually be Spider-Man #1 by Todd McFarlane?

just sign me

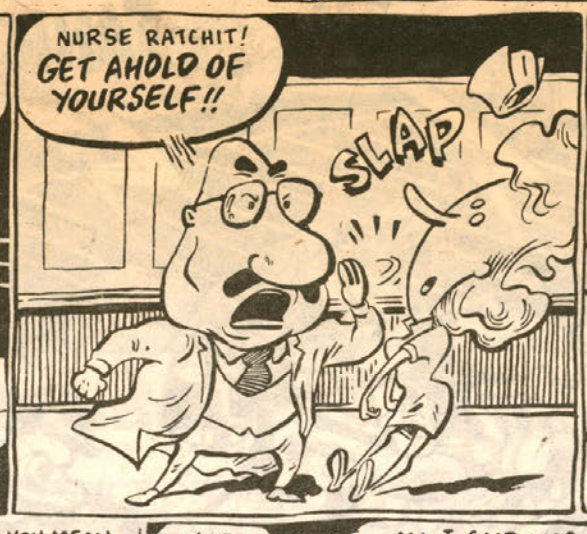
S. M. 1. B. T. McF.



NOT ONLY THAT-- HE THINKS I AM SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE AND YOU ARE SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE. EVEN ABSTRACT CONCEPTS LIKE THOUGHTS AND FEELINGS... HE BELIEVES THEY ARE SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE.

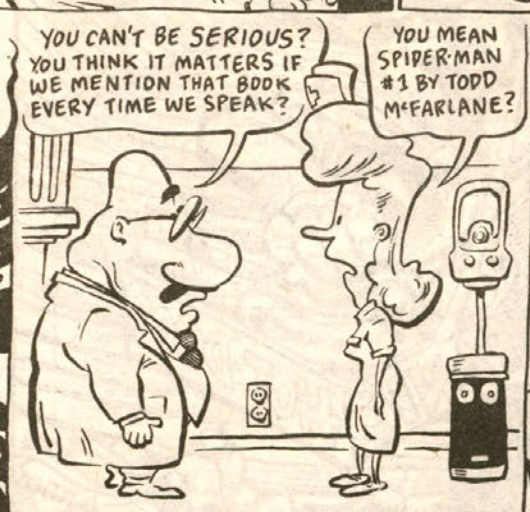


WHAT IF THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE IS SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE, AND THAT SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE IS MADE OF ZILLIONS OF SMALLER SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANES AND THOSE SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD Mc--



WOOOHOOO SOB
ALL I WANTED WAS A DEEPER UNDERSTANDING OF SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE AND NOW LOOK WHAT YOU'VE DONE!!
I'M SORRY. I SHOULDN'T HAVE SLAPPED YOU.

IT'S NOT THAT, YOU IDIOT!! YOU LET A WHOLE PANEL GO BY WITHOUT SAYING "SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE". IT WAS ALL SO BEAUTIFUL, IT WAS SO PERFECT!!



YOU CAN'T BE SERIOUS? YOU THINK IT MATTERS IF WE MENTION THAT BOOK EVERY TIME WE SPEAK?
YOU MEAN SPIDER-MAN #1 BY TODD McFARLANE?

Comics in Your Future

This list is continually updated and revised. Each company's titles are arranged alphabetically by sales date. The first date in parentheses is the date it is to be shipped to distributors, the second is the on-sale date: (6/11 6/28) would mean the title is to ship June 11 and go on sale June 28; (Jun/Jul) would mean that it ships in June to go on sale in July. If only one date appears — such as (6/11) or (Jun) — that is the shipping date. Comics shops have issues for sale earlier than the official on-sale date.

About late titles

*In the following list, titles at the beginning of each publisher's section which do not have a shipping and/or on-sale date are, as far as we can determine, late — those titles had not appeared as of the date this issue went to the printer, according to all the sources we can check. Publishers which do not publish anything within a reasonable length of time will be dropped from the "Comics in Your Future" listing. Corrections, updates, and reschedulings — and more late issues — will be noted two weeks from now, when this list runs again. Publishers should notify CBG if comics on this list have been published, canceled, or rescheduled.

ROCKETRANGER

A MASTER RACE FROM OUTER SPACE THREATENS THE FREE WORLD!

"ROCKET RANGER is one of those games I wanted to play forever."
Ken McNeil, Sentry Magazine

"Cinemaware's best title to date."
Jeffrey Hall, Commodore Magazine

With the zapping of ray guns and the cries of Zombie Women, ROCKET RANGER brings back all the action, romance, thrills and spills of the Saturday morning serial!

The action begins with an urgent message from the future: a future that saw the Nazis win World War II!

An underground group of scientists from the 21st century risk their lives to send a rocket suit, ray gun and decoder wheel to the past to stop the impending Nazi victory!

Low Minimums Great Discounts

X-FORCE #1 (Nicieza/Liefield) $1.50 cvr ....79/.83/.90 advance
The New Mutants are no more, rising above their ashes X-Force is born: Cable, Cannonball, Feral, Boom-Boom, Domino, Shadowstar and Warpath. This double-sized debut issue heats up immediately, as the team finds headquarters in an old sentinel base in the Adirondacks. Almost simultaneously, they are faced with the challenge of Stryfe and his Mutant Liberation Front, last seen in the final pages of New Mutants #100. As an added bonus, each issue of X-Force #1 will come bagged and include one of five special Impel trading cards made for the premiere issue (not available anywhere else!) Customers will be able to see the cards they want, and pick that particular issue. The exact number of 1st issue variations has not been released, however, rumors say five and since there are 5 trading cards, this is our assumption. Marvel has said they will distribute even amounts of each card. It is quite likely that certain cards will be more in demand than others, i.e. the Cable card or the team shot (see pictures). We will distribute evenly, the amounts we receive of each card. We don't feel it is fair to other customers to fill orders for particular cards, so please order at least five copies if you want a particular issue. Priority will be given to orders of 5 or more copies, those who order less than 5, will receive random issues with no duplicates. In closing, we would like to say the estimated print run for X-Men #1 in August is between 50 and 100% greater than Spider-Man #1 was. This will flood the market with a quantity in excess of 4 million copies. We have not gotten an estimate on the print run for X-Force #1, but it will be considerably smaller making it a solid investment for the summer. We are expecting X-Force #1 to do better in the back issue market.

The following special discounts will be offered:
- if you order 3-49 copies take the usual 40% off cover or .90 per copy.
- if you order 50-199 copies take the special 45% off cover or .83 per copy.
- if you order 200 or more copies take a gnarly 47½% off cover or .79 per copy.

Orders due by mail or phone on 6/21/91.

COMICS THAT ARE DUE BY 6/7/91

Cover to Amazing Spider-Man #350

Amazing Spider-Man #350 (Michelinie/Larsen/Emberlin) $1.50 cvr ..... $.90 advance
Spidey takes on Dr. Doom - alone - to save the black fox, in this double-sized 350th issue. This is Erik Larsen's last issue with a special Spidey pin-up gallery by Larsen, featuring inks by Spidey artists of the past.

Ghost Rider #16 (Mackie/Texeira) $1.75 cvr ..... 1.05 advance
Dan Ketch is wounded and Johnny Blaze saves him instead of Ghost Rider. Apparently Marvel has decided to raise cvr price following the glow-in-the-dark issue.

Marvel Comics Presents #82 (C-Windsor-Smith) $1.25 cvr ..... .75 advance
Weapon X pt. 11 of 13

Punisher P.O.V. #2 (Starlin/Wrightson/Wray) $4.95 cvr ..... 2.97 advance
Of 4 The Punisher, Nick Fury and the Kingpin think Deke Wainscroft brutally murders people. But he doesn't, so who ? Sales on issue #1 are strong, #2 will most likely be underordered.

Silver Surfer #52 (Marz/Lim/Christopher) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
Infinity Gauntlet crossover half the population of Titan disappears and Drax blames Firelord for it. On Earth, Dr. Strange, the Silver Surfer and Adam Warlock amass forces to battle Thanos. Bi-weekly for June.

Sleepwalker #3 (Budiansky/Blevins) $1.00 cvr ..... .50 advance
The X-Men, X-Factor, Fantastic Four and Avengers guest-star to battle the new villain cobweb in Sleepwalkers mindscape.

Cover to Deathlok #2

★ Superman: The Man of Steel #2 (Simonson/Bogdanove/Janke/C-Bogdanove, Janke) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
Ceberus returns after seeming defeat last month. This second issue is important because it will be underordered. Orders for #2 will go in before #1 ships and the demand will not be anticipated.

★ Wolverine #43 (Hama/Silvestri/Green) $1.75 cvr ..... 1.05 advance
The true relationship between Sabertooth and Wolverine is revealed. Rumors have it that Sabertooth is Wolverine's father. This will be an important issue, whatever is revealed. Bi-weekly for June.

X-Factor Annual #6 (Nicieza/Shoemaker) $2.00 cvr ..... 1.20 advance
King of Pain pt. 4 of 4 conclusion of the storyline as X-Factor comes to the aid of X-Force and the New Warriors, who failed to stop the resurrection of Proteus. The combined Mutant power must now defeat the reawakened Proteus before all is lost. Also, conclusion of the storyline paving the way for the formation of an all new X-Factor team.

Cover to Solar, Man of the Atom #

COMICS THAT ARE DUE BY 6/14/91

Demon #14 (Grant/Semeiks/Rodier) $1.50 cvr ..... $.90 advance
The odd squad, Klarion's gang, catch up with Etrigan and Lobo in a nuclear facility. The charm of the Lobo guest-appearance will be wearing off by this issue, but it will still be a good bet.

★ Incredible Hulk #384 (David/Keown) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
Infinity Gauntlet Crossover! The Hulk confronts his long time enemy, the abomination. The only problem: the Hulk is only one inch tall!! Sales are already strong on this book, and the increased demand may not be anticipated by retailers, making some of the early crossovers difficult to obtain.

Cover to Infinity Gaunt 6 + #2

Incredible Hulk TB: Ground Zero (David/McFarlane/others) $12.95 cvr ..... 7.77 advance
This 176 pg trade paperback collects the Hulk #340-346, the Gammatown Storyline. Features Wolverine, the kidnapping of Betty, and the supposed death of the Hulk. Also has a new McFarlane cover. It's definitely worth buying the TB since collecting all these issues singly would cost well over $50.

Cover to Hulk #384

Infinity Gauntlet #2 (Starlin/Perez/Rubinstein) $2.50 cvr ..... 1.50 advance
Of 6. Adam Warlock and Dr. Strange gather Earth's surviving heroes to battle Thanos. Also Galactus and the gods of Asgard make other plans to help Earth. In the process, Thanos destroys a star, almost destroying the Earth. This issue could easily be underordered.

Spider-Man #13 (McFarlane) $1.75 cvr ..... $1.05 advance
Part one of a two part story as Morbius the living Vampire returns, along with Spider-Man and his Black Costume. (The costume change may only be for these two issues!) Contrary to popular belief, this title continues to be the #1 monthly seller, even after the hype surrounding the first 7 issues. McFarlane's writing has improved, and the art is back to the style that made his Amazing Spider-Man issues so popular.

COMICS THAT ARE DUE BY 6/21/91

★ Deathlok #2 (McDuffie/Cowan/Manley/C-Cowan) $1.75 cvr ..... $1.05 advance
Deathlok is the next target after joining a group of cyborgs that are under attack from unknown forces. Dr. Doom guest stars, and if this series hits, as it most likely will, number 2's could be in short supply.

Cover to Spider-Man #13

Dr. Strange #32 (Thomas/Marrinan/McKenna) $1.50 cvr ..... .90 advance
Infinity Gauntlet Crossover. Dr. Strange believes he is a failure when his memories are rearranged by Thanos, in an attempt to remove the Sorcerer Supreme's threat.

Marvel Comics Presents #83 (C-Windsor Smith) $1.25 cvr ..... .75 advance
Weapon X part 12 of 13.

Silver Surfer #53 (Marz/Lim/Christopher) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
Infinity Gauntlet Crossover. Having suffered heavy losses at the hands of Thanos, the Kree wish to hire the Surfer to assassinate Emperor Clumsy Foul-up, who has increased taxes among the surviving Kree population.

Wolverine #44 (Hama/Kubert) $1.75 cvr ..... 1.05 advance
In this fourth of six bi-weekly issues, the Wolverine/Sabertooth conflict continues. This storyline is selling very well, and issue #41 flew off the shelves.

X-Men Annual #15

Minimum order is $30.00. Minimum order per copy is 3 on comics and 1 on prints unless specified. We recommend all the titles listed but the ones with stars indicate the investment potential is good. If you order more than 50 copies of these issues, take an additional 5% discount (45% off cover). To guarantee orders, we must receive them by their respective due dates. Please specify shipping preference in the space provided. Shipping is by UPS and costs $3.25/shipment plus $.05/book and $.25/TB. C.O.D.'s are $3.75 plus exact shipping, and are cash if we don't know you. Persons with APO's or that live outside the continental U.S. please inquire for additional shipping costs. No P.O. Boxes please. Check or M.O. payable to Pacific Comics.

Thanks for your order. Let us know if there's anything else you need.

All pictures, characters, titles, etc. in this ad are the property of their respective owners.

X-Factor #69 (Claremont/Lee/Portacio/Thibert) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
The Mutant Genesis continues with dramatic elements. As Jean receives the telepathic plea from Professor X, the team heads for Muir Island to save the X-Men from the clutches of Shadow King. The current team will elect to remain with Professor X as one of his strike teams of X-Men. This issue ties in directly with the current Uncanny X-Men, and X-Factor #70 will be the last appearance of the current team, before they merge to become the New X-MEN in August. The new X-Factor will be led by Havok, and will consist of Rahne, Polaris, Legion, Jamie Madrox, Guido, and occasionally Quicksilver.

COMICS THAT ARE DUE BY 6/28/91

Batman #467 (Simonson/Fern) $1.00 cvr ..... $.60 advance
In a special sequel to the Robin mini-series, the Boy Wonder learns that King Snake didn't die in Hong Kong, instead he has come to Gotham City seeking revenge.

Daredevil #296 (Chichester/Weeks/Williamson) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
The storyline continues from the Ghost Rider 2 - part guest shot as Daredevil teams up with Stick's old Ninja crew to fight the hand.

Darkhawk #7 (Fingeroth/Manley) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
This issue has Darkhawk battling the new menace of Loadstone, and Darkhawk's missing dad's diary is discovered, shedding some light on his mysterious past.

Green Lantern Emerald Dawn II #5 (Giffen/Bright/C-Bright) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
A hostage situation errupts in the prison. Hmm, maybe they should send in the PUNISHER.

Namor The Sub-Mariner #18 (Byrne) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
Namor is caught in an all out battle with the Super Skrull.

Uncanny X-Men #280 (Claremont/Kubert) $1.00 cvr ..... .60 advance
The Muir Island saga ends in tragedy as Professor X pays a terrible price to defeat the Shadow King guest-starring X-Factor. This issue ties into X-Factor #70, and lays the groundwork for August's X-MEN #1.

PRINTS

We offer these as an opportunity to buy high quality artwork at a reasonable price. Shipping costs are included in our price so if the prints are late, they will not delay the rest of your order. Outside continental U.S. please inquire for additional shipping costs. Residents of California, please add 6½% sales tax to the cost of these prints. Because of the limited nature of this artwork, please submit your orders as soon as possible to guarantee availability.

Aliens vs Predator $79.95 list ..... 64.00 advance
Dave Dorman's cover painting to Aliens vs. Predator #4. Limited to 1500 copies, comes shrinkwrapped on acid free board. This artist's previous Aliens vs. Predator print sold out before shipment from Dark Horse. We recommend this print as an investment.

Cry For Dawn Portfolio $15.00 list ..... 13.00 advance
Eight black & white plates by J.M. Linsner. Signed and numbered of 1500. 18 or older only please. This artist's work is in short supply with ever increasing demand, for only $13.00, it is a great investment.

Classic Will Eisner BASEBALL COMICS

Originally published in 1949, Eisner's Baseball Comics has not been reprinted since. This full color, $3.95 publication also features a bound-in baseball card insert. The four cards feature Gene Woodling, Richie Ashburn, Alvin Dark, and Rube Rooky. The Rube card was created specially for this publication by Will Eisner.

Baseball Comics was written by Jules Feiffer, and drawn by Will Eisner, Tex Blaisdell and Jerry Grandenetti. This is a nostalgic look at a bygone era in baseball. Baggy uniforms, hitting pitchers, and an assumption that fans were interested in the strategy of baseball.

Another story in this issue chronicles the 1926 Brooklyn Dodgers in one of their most famous games.

Baseball Comics stands out in this glutted field as one of the most refreshing and fun publications ever.

TURN YOUR COMICS TO CASH
MAKE BIG MONEY SELLING YOUR COMICS BY MAIL

Here's What Others Are Saying About This Book:

"Thanks! Because of your book, I have started selling some of my comic collection by mail. I used the simple steps you suggested to set up my business and how to locate buyers. So far, I've received $2000 in orders the first month."
- Kenneth Fredrick, Gary, IN

"I'd placed a few comic ads before; they weren't successful. I could not understand why I couldn't get enough customers to make my ads pay off. After following the steps in your book, I've run three ads and each one has made huge amounts of money."
- Ronald Ross, Houston, TX

"I've been a comic dealer for over 12 years and I can't believe the money-making letters and examples you gave in your book. I've used a few of them already and I've made more money in the last 2 months than I ever have."
- John Rupert, Bloomsburg, PA

X-MEN™ #1 COLLECTORS PIN SET!

The Ultimate X-Men™ Collectible!

Produced by Planet Studios and limited to only 2,500, these pin sets are selling fast!

Choose an available number from 1 to 2,500 and you will receive all five pins with the same number. (Sorry, but number one goes to Jim Lee.) These pins will not be available anywhere else as a matched set.

The number you select will be registered to you, and you will have first option of receiving that number on future pin releases. This includes the Limited Edition Cadillacs & Dinosaurs™ Pin scheduled for September release and designed by Mark Schultz.

You will also receive a free one year (12-issue) subscription to the Novelty Value Bulletin. This will enable you to monitor the value of your pins as they are sure to skyrocket! The Spider-man™ #1 Cover Pin is already selling for $20.00 (we are currently buying that pin for $17.00 if you've got one!)

To order this pin set, simply call us to reserve your number. Send payment by mail or use your Visa/Mastercard. (If you send payment without calling first, a number will be chosen for you at random.)

The fifth pin is a compilation of the first four and measures a full 2x5 inches!

Call 612-688-7827 to reserve your number, then send payment of $69.75 plus $3.00 for shipping and insurance to: Subscriptions, Pin Division, 1565 Cliff Road, Suite 3-450, St. Paul, MN 55122.

The world of Rifts™ is waiting for you!

Available at comic book stores and hobby shops everywhere

Rifts™, the Role-Playing Game

Rifts™ is a multi-genre role-playing game that captures the elements of magic and the supernatural along with science fiction and high technology.

The Palladium mega-damage system applies to both magic and technology, creating super powerful characters of all kind. The fact that the same basic RPG system links all of our games, means that players can bring in any Palladium character from any Palladium game.

The Earth has been inadvertently transformed by a cataclysmic event that nearly obliterated humankind. It is approximately 200 years later (nobody knows for sure). Human beings are emerging out of a dark age to reclaim the planet. A strange and alien Earth inhabited by unimaginable, and sometimes terrible, creatures.

Earth is brimming with what ancient man called "magic" energy. Ley lines criss-cross the planet. Where they intersect, the energy is at its peak and trans-dimensional rifts tear open the fabric of space and time, releasing unspeakable horrors.

Highlights Include:

- Nearly 30 exciting and unique Occupational Character Classes including the Cyber-Knight, Borgs, Glitter Boys, Psi-Stalkers, Dog Pack (mutant humanoid dogs), Crazies and many others.
- Supernatural creatures. Some, like the Dragon are actually player characters, other are horrifying menaces from the rifts.
- Bionics and cybernetics, offer a vast range of mechanical augmentation.
- Super-technology with mega-damage body armor, energy weapons, rail guns, power armor, and human augmentation.
- Psionics including the Burster and Mind Melter O.C.C.s and new psionic abilities.
- Magic! In addition to the more traditional wizard types, we introduce techno-wizardry, the true synthesis of magic and technology with some fabulous results.
- An entire savage world of the fantastic and super-technology is within reach of your finger tips. A world unlike any you've experienced before. A grim and brutal place where survival is a daily struggle and champions must step forward to protect the helpless. Note: Some parents may find the violence and supernatural themes of Rifts unsuitable for young readers/players.
- Cover by Keith Parkinson! 16 pages of interior color paintings by Kevin Long, Keith Parkinson, Kevin Siembieda, and others.
- 256 pages! $24.95 plus $2.00 for postage. Available now at hobby shops and comic stores everywhere.

NEW!! The Rifts™ Source-book (#1)

The Rifts Source-Book is designed to satisfy the thousands of fans who insist they need more now! This particular volume gives them more of everything!!

- More weapons, vehicles, robots, and equipment.
- More monsters (at least a dozen) including Splugorthian Raiders/ Slavers, and others!
- More world information and maps
- Robots and Robot Occupational Character Classes (O.C.C.s).
- Robot NPCs, villains, and adventure that revolve around a robot crisis that threatens humankind.
- Cover and interior art by Kevin Long.
- Written by Kevin Siembieda.
- 112 pages, $11.95 plus $1.50 for postage and handling.
- Ships late February

Gay anthology comic book is launched in Britain

By Howard W. Stangroom

A new anthology comic for, about, and largely by gay and bisexual people is to be launched in the United Kingdom at London's Gay Pride event in June. Entitled Buddies, it is the brainchild of Don Melia, former co-publisher (with his then-partner Lionel Gracey-Whitman) of Matt Black, Strip AIDS, Heartbreak Hotel, and BLAAM!, four alternative comics of the '80s which attracted much media attention and helped launch the careers of several of today's "Brit Pack," such as Kid Eternity artist Duncan Fegredo.

The timing of Buddies is seen by many as courageous, since the British Parliament is currently discussing legislation which would outlaw specific sexual practices. Together with the already in force "Section 28," which forbids local government funding of any educational or artistic projects deemed to be "promoting homosexuality" (thus making gay people the only minority specifically discriminated against by English law), this legislation is viewed as a step towards the recriminalization of homosexual acts. One of Melia's stated aims with Buddies is to challenge the homophobic social and political climate currently prevalent in Britain.

Melia said, "When Section 28 was passed in 1988, some kindly person in the government decided to describe us as 'Pretend Families,' implying that there was something 'unreal' about gay people. I don't know what a 'pretend family' is supposed to be, but I do know that my own family — my partner Tony, my friends, the people who are there for me when I need them — they don't seem very 'pretend' to me, so we've taken that phrase and used it as our company logo, to challenge that view and show that we are real people leading real lives, and that our lifestyles, while they may be different from the majority, are just as real and as valid.

"With the passing of Section 28 and the introduction of Clause 25, and the complacency arising after 10 years of AIDS, I thought it was time we did something. Most European countries and North America have a tradition of gay comics. England? Hardly anything and, when gay characters do appear, it's usually as the tragic suicide or sissy queen stereotypes. So, especially in the present situation, I felt it was time we had a comic [book] to tell our stories.

"Buddies will be an ongoing title, probably bi-monthly, and the profits raised from it will go into financing other one-off comics or graphic novels with small print runs, by our own 'Pretend Family,' by lesbian and gay writers and artists, but not excluding straight people, who will be represented in Buddies if they have something valid to say. I'm not trying to create new ghettos. Eventually, I hope there'll be enough material around that enlightened comics stores could do a 'Lesbian and Gay' section."

Howard Cruse, described by Melia as "The Grandpop of gay comics," has written an introduction for Buddies #1, which also features;

A cover by City Limits cartoonist Groc, who also draws "Casper, the Puppy from Hell" and "Postcards from over the Top," featuring the return of Vikki Veil and Heartbreak Hannah.

"Can We Do It Till I Need Glasses?" takes place in an optician's in Germany, illustrated by Stephen Lowther, whose art has appeared in America's Gay Comix.

Underground cartoonist Bob Lynch will supply "Artwork," a tale concerning a straight man's coming to terms with a close gay friend's illness, as well as the one-page "Statistical Maneuvers in the Pub."

Coney and Hamilton, from Northern Ireland, present "The Good Father," a tale of a son's relationship with his father and how a betrayal of trust shatters it.

Patrick Marcel from France draws "Forcats Du Sexe," an anthropomorphic humor strip concerning phone-sex lines.

The English price for Buddies will be £1.50; American price and distribution have not yet been arranged.

A new, fully painted poster by Dave McKean of Black Orchid, Batman, and Swamp Thing is scheduled to ship for $5.95 June 13.

Flashback: 20 years ago

The comic strip Quincy begins June 17, 1971, created by Ted Shearer and distributed by King Features.

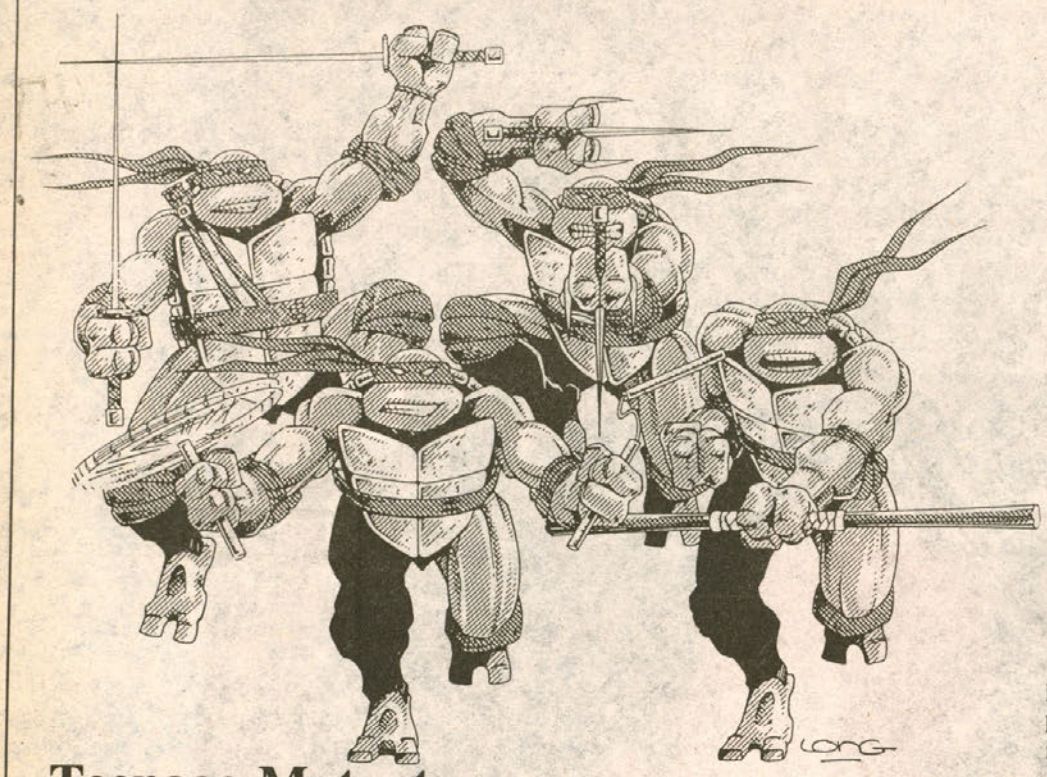
Have you seen Palladium Books®' RPGs?



Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles® & Other Strangeness

The Ninja Turtle role playing game isn't for little kids, or a movie knock off, but captures the magic and strangeness of the TMNT black and white comic book and more. Players can create any kind of mutant animal hero from hamster to tiger. The environment is the hard hit world of today. 112 pages give you the complete game, Eastman & Laird strip and art, and five introductory adventures, $11.95 plus $1.00 for mail order. Other TMNT adventure and source books are available.

The After the Bomb® Series

Then check out the science fiction source book/adventure series called After the Bomb® for something completely different.

The human race is nearly obliterated in global holocaust and intelligent mutant animals are the new dominant race. But even they must struggle to survive against strange mutants, would be conquerors, and high-tech human supremists in a very different Earth of the future. ALL directly compatible with Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles® RPG, Heroes Unlimited™, and even Rifts™!

Book One: After the Bomb: Sets the basic "After the Bomb" world, introduces the Empire of Humanity, and provides six adventures. 48 pages, $7.95 plus $1.00 for postage and handling.

Book Two: Road Hogs: 20 new mutant animals and vehicle combat and construction rules to carry you through the hostile highways and byways of West Coast adventures. $7.95 plus $1.00 for postage and handling.

Book Three: Mutants Down Under: A fabulous and exotic adventure and source book with nearly 30 new mutant animals, giant mutant insects, Dream Time magic and adventures. $7.95 plus $1.00 for mail order.

Book Four: Mutants of the Yucatan: Author, Erick Wujcik, has done it again, creating another exciting source book for the post-apocalyptic world of mutant animals. This time he takes us through the rain forests and jungles of the Yucatan, more deadly and primal than ever. Over 22 new mutant animals. The mysterious gene-molded-cats. More trouble with the Empire of Humanity. $7.95 plus $1.00 for postage and handling.

Book Five: Mutants in Avalon (NEW): King Arthur is back! And he's a mutant!! This time we explore England. Much has changed after the bomb struck. Human life is nearly extinct. Britain is now divided into eight kingdoms, all ruled by intelligent mutant animals. But all is not well. Feuding between the kingdoms promise civil war and then there are the rumors about a human ar ny invading the Waste Lands. The realm needs a leader. A man (or mutant) who can unite the people and restore a nation; King Arthur!

Highlights include:

- A dozen new mutant animals.
- A half a dozen mutant insect monsters, not to mention giant snails and slugs!
- Druids and earth magic, and the evil of Morgana.
- The New Britain, described and mapped.
- King Arthur, Merlin, and the Knights of the Round Table.
- Adventure and more.
- 80 pages, $9.95 plus $1.00 for postage and handling.

Detroit, MI 48210

REVISED Ninjas & Superspies™

The popular Ninjas & Superspies™, with its 41 forms of martial art hand to hand combat, cyber-disguises and implants, has been out of print for the last few months to undergo some modest, but significant changes. The role-playing game is now completely compatible with Heroes Unlimited™, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles® & Other Strangeness, Rifts™, and the entire Palladium Megaverse®! It has also been reorganized for easier use and we've even added a few more pages. But that's not all!!

Still $14.95 plus $1.50 for postage and handling.

Heroes Unlimited™

This massive 248 page role-playing game is still one of the few super-hero games that enables players to create every genre of hero; cyborgs, robots, aliens, mutants (human and animal), men of magic, as well as super-sleuths, martial artists, weapons masters, psionics, and even crazy heroes. $19.95 plus $2.00 for mail order.

Beyond the Supernatural™

Beyond the Supernatural™ is a complete role-playing game of contemporary horror. Player characters include the parapsychologist, psi-mechanic, psychic sensitive, nega-psychic, arcanist, and others. The monster section is comprehensive and unique and the magic system really works in the modern world. Over 250 pages; ties directly into Rifts™ with its psychic powers and the concept of ley lines and magic energy. The super natural monsters (and characters to a lesser degree) can be dropped into the new RPG with ease. The Rifts Conversion Book (coming soon) will provide exact information on how to integrate Beyond characters smoothly into Rifts. $19.95 plus $2.00 for mail order.

The Palladium® Role-Playing Game

A complete role-playing game that offers an exciting and different fantasy world. Men of arms have real strength, the magic of the Diabolist and Summoner is unlike any else where. Combat is quick, clean, and realistic. A dozen non- human races are available to players. If you like other fantasy games, you love this one. 274 pages, beautifully illustrated, $19.95 plus $2.00 for mail order.

Other great role-playing games include Revised RECON®, Robotech™, Robotech II: The Sentinels™, and a ton of adventure and source books. Send 50 cents (postage and handling) for our complete catalog of Palladium Books games and supplements.

Our complete catalog can be mailed to you for 50 cents (postage and handling).

The New Generation (Invids) available on videocassette

The first two videocassettes in the series of eight are currently on sale at comic book stores and hobby shops everywhere.

Robotech™ fans take note!

"SERVING COLLECTORS WORLDWIDE SINCE 1967"

CBG Customer Service Award - 1991

HOW TO ORDER - Simply list on any sheet of paper what you would like. Add $2.50 for postage. Print your name and address clearly. Payment with order please. All orders are securely packaged and sent out promptly.

Quality material and fast dependable service is guaranteed. All items listed are returnable for refund or exchange - no explanation necessary.

CONDITION CODES - M = Mint, NM = Near Mint, VF = Very Fine, F = Fine, Vg = Very Good, G = Good, Fa = Fair, P = Poor. All prices are per item.

Alternate choices are appreciated, but not a must. Your alternate selections are used only when your first choice is out of stock. Refunds are sent when an item is out of stock. Please note if you prefer credit vouchers.

Postage - Please add $2.50 to all orders to help with postage. All orders are insured. Overseas customers are appreciated. Overseas, please add extra postage and specify air or surface delivery. All unused postage (overseas) shall be returned.

A NOTE ON CONDITION - Notation such as F-M simply mean our stock consists of issues available in Fine to Mint Condition. We always send the best quality on hand.

WE'RE LOOKING FOR SATISFIED CUSTOMERS!

All items listed are original FIRST PRINTINGS. This price sheet will be honored thru March 31, 1992.

"Sorry, no phone orders - but we're QUICK with a reply - hope you'll give us a try"

THE TASTE TEST

RECENTLY ANOTHER DEALER ADVERTISED THAT HE WAS LOOKING TO BUY WHAT HE TERMED AS "CERTAIN EXAMPLES" OF COMIC BOOK AND COMIC STRIP ART AND THAT HE WOULD PAY WHAT SEEMS LIKE SOME FAIRLY OUTRAGEOUS PRICES FOR THEM. HOWEVER, HE WAS NOT SPECIFIC AT ALL AS TO WHAT THOSE CERTAIN EXAMPLES ARE. I MEAN SERIOUSLY FOLKS, DO YOU EXPECT THAT HE WOULD PAY $10,000 FOR JUST ANY KIRBY COVER OR THAT HE WOULD PAY $15,000 FOR A FLASH GORDEN PAGE FROM 1940. OR EVEN THAT HE WOULD PAY $2,500 FOR A PRINCE VALIANT FROM 1971.

I AM POSITIVE THAT THERE ARE KIRBY COVERS WORTH $10,000 OR MORE, BUT DOES ANYONE HAVE THE COVER FOR FANTASTIC FOUR #1 FOR SALE OR CAPTAIN AMERICA #1? I DON'T THINK SO. BUT IF SOMEONE DOES, THESE COVERS ARE MOST DEFINATELY WORTH MORE THAN $10,000 EACH TO ME. HAVE YOU EVER SEEN A JOE SHUSTER COVER? OR HOW ABOUT YELLOW KID SUNDAY PAGES.

SO WHAT SHOULD WE GET OUT OF ALL THIS? JUST THAT WITH SUCH A GENERAL STATEMENT AS "I WILL PAY $10,000 FOR "CERTAIN JACK KIRBY COVERS"" YOU MUST ASK YOURSELF - DO I HAVE ANY OF THOSE "CERTAIN EXAMPLES"?

AS A COLLECTOR WHO HAS BEEN INVOLVED IN THIS FIELD FOR MORE THAN 25 YEARS, I HAVE BEEN TRYING TO MAINTAIN MY OWN COLLECTION OF ART AS WELL AS TRYING TO HELP YOU WITH YOUR COLLECTIONS. SOME SPECIFIC AREAS OF INTEREST TO ME THAT I HAVE CONCENTRATED ON ARE GOLD & SILVER AGE DC & MARVEL ART, ADVENTURE & HUMOR STRIPS FROM 1900-1980 & MAGAZINE/PULP PAINTINGS & ILLUSTRATION. THOUGH I HAVE BEEN ABLE TO LOCATE A LARGE BODY OF ART I HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO LOCATE "CERTAIN EXAMPLES" TO FILL MY COLLECTION. FOR THESE "CERTAIN EXAMPLES" I WILL PAY A VERY DEAR PRICE, BUT RATHER THAN SAY THAT I'LL PAY $30,000. FOR FLASH GORDON FROM 1935 & 1936 I WILL PINPOINT EXACTLY WHICH ONES I WILL PAY $30,000 FOR. THIS WAY YOU DON'T HAVE TO CALL SO I CAN SAY "IT ISN'T THE ONE." IF YOU HAVE ANY OF THESE PIECES, THEY ARE THE ONES!

ALEX RAYMOND 6-23-35
I WILL PAY $30,000.00

ney/MGM theme park. And the film's not even open.

Officially.

I would love to be able to tell you that I'm some hotshot VIP who was invited to a private screening. Just me and a dozen or so of my close, personal friends, with Disney execs all around whispering, "David likes it! He'll write it up! We'll be famous!"

Far from it. It was pure happenstance. The positive aspect of this is that, if you have a trip slated for Disney/MGM, or live in the area, then you, too, can catch it.

My family and I were at Disneyworld on vacation (tied in with my attending the Miamicon comic convention with Hulk artist and god-in-the-making Dale Keown — after all, you remember what happened to the last talented Canadian Hulk artist).

It was our last day, and we were at the Disney/MGM studios. I had the kids entertained in the "Honey I Shrunk the Kids" playground, while my wife, Myra, was doing some shopping on Main Street.

And there a Disney employee tipped her to the fact that they were running sneak previews of the Muppet 3-D film — the movie whose release had been tied up in the courts after the acrimonious dissolution of the Disney/Henson deal. (I've heard a lot of Disney-related dirt, but it's all second-hand, so I won't pass it on.) The legal snarl had only recently been settled, and there was no set release date of the film; we'd heard anywhere from May 21 to as late as October.

Yet here this guy was telling Myra they were running sneaks — furthermore, that it was open to anybody, not some sort of restricted thing for big shots or Disney employees. And, most incredibly, there was no line. Why? No one knew about it. You had to check the posting boards or pick it up through word of mouth.

Myra, despite being six months pregnant, set a land speed record for getting across the park to relay this bit of information, and minutes later we waltzed in. Sure enough, no line. Walk right in, step this way.

If you do not wish to know what you'll see in the Muppet 3-D film, do not read further. However, I feel no guilt in telling you what to expect: Moments after seeing it, we ran around to the front of the theater and saw it again. It was even better the second time around.

In the Muppet 3-D film, you can witness the seamless marriage of Disney and Henson, as it artfully combines 3-D technology, live action, and audioanimatronics. You don't watch this film so much as have it happen to you. It's in front of you, to the sides, and behind you. No one and no place is safe, and you literally have the feeling that the film screen is simply incapable of containing the Muppets.

This thing makes Disney's other high-profile 3-D film, Captain EO, look like a home movie. It's nine minutes of unbridled hysterics and hysteria: an entire episode of the Muppet show encapsulated into less than half the time.

After a TV monitor pre-show, featuring Rowlf the Dog entertaining viewers with stirring renditions of such ditties as "Lydia the Tattooed Lady," you enter a very spacious and comfortable theater that bears a striking resemblance to the theater from The Muppet Show. This is further accentuated, in short order, by the appearance of audioanimatronic (abbreviated henceforth as audioam) Statler and Waldorf, the two old balcony-bound coots who regularly heckle the series. An audioam orchestra of penguins rises in front of you and strikes up an overture, the curtain parts, and, accompanied by the familiar Muppet Show theme music, the film rolls.

Kermit the Frog, in glorious 3-D, appears on the screen and confirms that the film is, indeed, under way. As if the evidence of our own eyes isn't enough, the Frog (performed, I'm quite certain, by Jim Henson — if not, it's a perfect imitation) calls to the projectionist at the back of the theater to confirm the obvious. Crane your neck and you'll see an audioam Swedish Chef in the projection booth, assuring us that "der flim is okeedokee."

Fozzie Bear shows up and, after conversing (from the screen) with Statler and Waldorf (in the theater), aims a water-squirting lapel flower at the audience and lets fly. Sure enough, the audience is doused.

Kermit then leads us on a guided tour of Muppet 3-D labs, assuring us that the greatest scientific minds of the entire world have been invited to the labs to help develop this new breakthrough technology. As an afterthought, Kermit informs us that none of those great minds accepted the invitation, which means that instead we're left with the efforts of Dr. Bunsen Honeydew and his intrepid, and perpetually victimized, assistant Beaker.

Their endeavors unleash a running 3-D character, Waldo, a rapidly shape-shifting little beastie that eludes their best tries to recapture him (an attempt at snaring him with a vacuum threatens to suck the audience right out of their seats.) This production is so tightly integrated that, when the 3-D filmed Waldo bounces up and down across the heads of the audience, audioamed Statler and Waldorf's heads move in synchronization as they "watch" him.

We then segue to a musical number with Miss Piggy, the botching of which prompts one of the Muppets to resign from the movie. He stalks off screen.

The movie-bound Muppets spread out to look for him, their flashlights from the screen playing across the audience. Moments later, the huge Sweetums walks off the screen to the right and then physically enters the audience, in search of the strayed Muppet. He finds him, audioamed in the balcony on the other side of the stage.

Coaxing the fugitive Muppet back onto the screen, the film then barrels towards its finale, described earlier by Sam the Eagle as "a stirring salute to all the nations of the world, but mostly the United States."

Time, however, is running thin. As is typical for any Muppet Show, Kermit started out totally in control and is now frantically watching matters slip through his flippers with dizzying speed.

"Sam!" he shouts. "Is the finale ready?"

"Yes," Sam informs him smugly. "It's a glorious three-hour extravaganza . . ."

Aware of the impending end of the film, Kermit responds to the horrified eagle, "We've got a minute and a half!"

The finale is cranked up, everything is flying everywhere, including Muppets, bows and arrows, rifle shots, fireworks, cannonfire — total and complete chaos. Watch very carefully and you'll even see a cross-section of "It's a Small World" puppets hurtle across the screen, singing a bar from that remarkably cloying song.

By the time the thing is over, the Frog is a nervous wreck and the theater is a physical wreck. You can even see, upon leaving the theater, the damage that was inflicted on the outside of the park because of the ending of the film.

The death of Jim Henson, purely from the standpoint of the greatest entertainment genius of our generation being cut down, is tragedy enough. I have now, however, seen the two — and, I believe, only — filmed fruits of the abortive Henson/Disney teaming. The first is the hilarious program Dinosaurs on Friday nights. And the second is the Muppet 3-D film.

The potential of Henson's vision and imagination combined with the technology and resources at Disney's command would have (and I apologize for hyperbole here) ushered in an era of innovation that would have consistently broken new ground in entertainment.

Up until now, Henson's death has mostly stood for the loss of things already experienced. No more Kermit the Frog, at least as we've known him. No Muppets in the style that we've grown to love.

With the Muppet 3-D film

DIGRESS

and Dinosaurs — but particularly the former — we now begin to realize the enormity of what we won't see in the future. We begin to perceive the true immensity of the death of Henson. The true meaning of, in the words of Whittier, what "might have been."

Brian Henson seems to be carrying on his father's "family business" quite capably, settling the legal hassles with Disney, not letting the men in the mouse suits walk all over him. Shepherding the innovative Dinosaurs through the tarpits of prime time. Brian has yet to prove himself the pure genius that his father was but, hell, even the Muppets weren't born overnight. It's unfair to hold the son against the standards created by his father over decades. From what we've seen, Henson Associates has the potential to provide quality creativity.

Still, I had actually been concerned that, watching the Muppet 3-D film, I would be so choked up about this: Jim Henson's last released contribution. That doesn't happen, however, because the moment the film starts, you're not watching Jim Henson, puppeteer, at work. You're watching your old pals, the Muppets, in one of the most innovative and creative forums you've ever seen. The like of which you'll never see again.

If "It might have been" are the saddest words of tongue or pen, "if only" has certainly got to be right up there.

Peter David, writer of stuff, is also impressed about the number of laughs provided at Disney/MGM at corporate expense, such as a film of David Letterman outside one exhibit, warning incoming audiences that they should behave themselvs, or else "a squad of security guards in mouse outfits will come out and beat you senseless."

General Information

These take up 38 bin boxes and 2 magazine boxes. All comics are individually bagged. Many items aren't mentioned — most material from '85 to present is represented.

I'll throw in a bin box of promo pieces (DC Currents, Marvel Age, First Edition, Eclipse Extra, etc.) Buyer pays shipping, or picks up collection him/herself. Overstreet value is about $23,000. I'll sell entire collection to first offer of $11,500 plus shipping — that's 50% off. If you think it's too much, make an offer. I'll also consider selling smaller lots.

Send a self-addressed 9 x 12 envelope with 75¢ postage, and I'll send you 12-page list of entire collection.

I can be called 6 – 10PM EST. I'll return long-distance calls collect.

I wish to sell this collection as soon as possible — I'm moving at the end of June and would rather not transport it. Anyone in New England area who would like to see the collection can call me and we can set something up. I'll drive the collection to a buyer in the northern New England area.

$50.00 and up -- I'll pay.

GOLDEN-AGE BATMAN

#3 good $350.00
Cover torn halfway up from bottom and taped on the inside. Otherwise cover looks great. Spine frayed in a few places. Cover and first three pages, front and back, are loose from each other from bottom staple down. Flat copy with almost white pages.

#5 very good $300.00
Spine very slightly rolled. Slight tear on top of cover and another on side. Slight fraying around staples. Pages slightly yellowed.

#8 very good $225.00
Slight roll. Slight fraying around staples. Small tears along outside edge of cover and name written in pencil along logo. Middle page is loose from staples and slightly yellowed. All other pages are near-white.

#87 fair to poor $5.00
Rolled spine, frayed and somewhat torn around staples. Fraying along top and side of cover. Slight tears along borders of most pages, which are yellowed.

#93 fair $5.00
Slight roll. Frayed spine with slight tears around staples. Slight fraying and creases around edges and cover seems to be faded. Pages are yellowed.

#104 poor $1.00
Front and back covers are completely loose from the book and each other. Front cover has crease down middle and fraying along top. All pages are intact and somewhat yellowed, especially along top.

GOLDEN-AGE DETECTIVE

#26 very good $200.00
Flat copy with little wear around staples and at top and bottom of spine. Cover has barely a mark on it. Pages are turning brown along the outside edge with small pieces missing from lower right corner of first eight pages. Otherwise, all pages and art are intact.

#28 good $600.00
Cover has been restored. It shows signs of having had tape along spine once. Spine fairly intact. Flat copy with very small piece missing from lower right corner of cover. Pages are yellowed but intact.

#40 good $125.00
Cover in place by new staples. Some fraying along top and bottom of spine. Very slight wear to corners of cover. All pages intact except middle page which is loose. Slight yellowing.

#47 very good $135.00
Some wear along spine. Pages are slightly yellowed. Middle page is loose.

#138 good $40.00
Wear and tape along spine. Two-inch chunk missing from lower right cover. Pages slightly yellowed.

#234 fair $5.00
Tear along spine at top and bottom. Some fraying along rest of spine and top of cover. Pages slightly yellowed.

#265 good $8.00
Some wear along spine and cover edges. Pages slightly yellowed.

#269 fair $3.00
Slight wear along spine. Wear along cover edges and a couple of creases. Pages slightly yellowed.

*COMIC LOTS AND OTHER ITEMS FOR SALE AT A FRACTION OF OVERSTREET****

My thanks to everyone who responded to my recent CBG ad. Everything sold within a short time after the ad appeared, and I have received many favorable comments on the quality of the books.

Here are some more lots and other items I will sell at discount prices. In deference to the many people who were shut out from the last ad because their CBGs arrived late, I will give everyone an equal chance this time by selling all items on a "best offer" basis. Please submit a separate bid on each item you want in writing, and enclose a 29¢ stamp or postal card so I can let you know the status of your bid. I'll try to leave the bidding open long enough so that people in all parts of the country will have a chance to respond.

A). COMIC LOTS: Except where noted, most of the items in the following sets are VFN or better, with many items in NM to M. No duplicates within individual sets.

LOT #33: 100 issues of ACTION COMICS ranging between #382 and #483.

LOT #34: 63 issues of SUPERBOY ranging between #150 and #240.

LOT #35: 80 issues of SUPERMAN ranging between #240 and #324.

LOT #36: 50 assorted comics with "Superman Family" characters from the 1960's and 1970's. Includes issues of SUPERMAN, ACTION, SUPERBOY, etc.

LOT #37: 30 assorted comics with "Batman Family" characters from the 1960's and 1970's. Includes issues of BATMAN, DETECTIVE, JOKER, WORLDS FINEST, etc.

LOT #38: 40 issues of WONDER WOMAN mostly from the 1970's, but a few from the late 1950's.

LOT #39: 50 DC superhero comics from the 1970's. Includes ALL-STAR, SHOWCASE, plus many more.

LOT #40: 25 issues of DETECTIVE COMICS from 1968 to 1977. Issues are spread fairly evenly over the time period.

LOT #41: 25 coverless, reprint and 3-D comics mostly from the 1950's and 1960's. This unusual lot includes coverless comics from 1951 to 1969 (e.g., BRAVE AND BOLD, DETECTIVE, GREEN LANTERN, etc.); some "reprint" comics such as the DynaPubs black and white reprint of HUMAN TORCH #5 (from 1941); plus two unusual ACG comics from 1954 which utilized a so-called "No Glasses" 3D effect (ADVENTURES INTO THE UNKNOWN and ROMANTIC ADVENTURES). You can judge for yourself how effective the effect is.

LOT #42: Golden Record reprints of FANTASTIC FOUR #1, AMAZING SPIDERMAN #1 & JOURNEY INTO MYSTERY #83, each in VFN-NM, records not included; Giant sized reprints of BATMAN #1 & FLASH COMICS #1, both in NM to M. Items in this set also available individually.

LOT #43: THE PANELOLOGIST (rare Jerry Bails 1969 fanzine) VOL II #1-3, G/A GREEN LANTERN index; #4-6, "JSA on EARTH-II"; #7-8, ALL-STAR index; VOL III, 1935-69 comics artist index.

B). INDIVIDUAL COMICS FOR BID: ACTION #3VG (1938), #4VG-tape, #252VG (1959, 1st SUPERGIRL); FLASH #105G-VG (1959), would be VG except for tape on inside covers; GREEN LANTERN #40FN, #59VG-FN, #76NM-M, #77NM; FANTASTIC FOUR #89FN-VFN; BLACKHAWK #107FN (Last QUALITY issue), #108VG+ (1st DC); SHEENA 3D #1NM (1954, no glasses); BATMAN #200VG+

C). NON-COMIC BOOK ITEMS

1. HEARINGS AND EXHIBITS OF THE WARREN COMMISSION (26 volumes, published by U.S. Govt. Printing Office in 1964); source material for much of the analysis done on the Kennedy Assassination. Very rare. I've never seen another set offerred for sale.

2. Unusual STAR TREK item: copy of GENE RODDENBERRY's original 16-page concept draft for the series, dated March 11, 1964. Includes his early thoughts on the characters (the Captain's name is given as "Robert April", and Spock is described as "probably half-Martian"), early plot ideas (some of which were used in the series, like "The Next Cage" & "The Day Charlie Became God"), etc. Fascinating reading.

3. 1966 edition of FUNK & WAGNALLS ENCYCLOPEDIA (25 volumes), made famous by its frequent references on LAUGH-IN in the late 1960's. Like new.

This is my pledge to you, my loyal readers:

This column will continue to report on events of global significance, despite the budgetary restrictions placed on it by its parsimonious editors which have frustrated my efforts to build a first-rate international news team. Prevented from going to the scene of important stories, this reporter will exercise the next-best option available to him:

The supermarket tabloids.

"Batman-Crazy Hubby Forces His Wife to Dress Like Robin" (as reported in the Sept. 5, 1989, edition of the Examiner). This is the story of multi-millionaire Guatemalan coffee baron Jaime Peron who, according to his wife Sylvia, "won't even make love to me unless I parade before him for hours in my Robin outfit." The shapely Sylvia "might have been able to put up with his crazy desire to reenact the comic-book stories" but drew the line at her man's plan to legally change the name of their young son Georgio to "Bruce Wayne."

The Perons flew to Los Angeles for the premiere of the Batman movie. "Jaime loves Robin. He has all the original Batman comic books, and Robin is his favorite character. When he found out Robin wasn't in the movie, it crushed him. He told me he would make me into his Robin."

Sylvia's mom, Maria Cantu, is pretty miffed herself.

"How do you think it feels when I give a party and my son-in-law shows up in a Batman outfit and my poor daughter has to pretend to be a boy in a ridiculous costume?"

Jaime is equally obsessed with Kim Basinger, even to having a Basinger look-alike flown in from the United States and renting her an apartment under the name of Vicki Vale. "He's the laughing stock of the country," says Mrs. Cantu. "He is so rich and powerful that no one has the courage to tell him to his face that he is acting like a fool."

Believe it or not, this sort of behavior appears to be reaching epidemic proportions in Central

"Fed-Up Wife Reveals... 'My Man's Possessed by Dick Tracy'" (as reported in the Aug. 7, 1990, edition of the Sun). This is the story of wealthy Costa Rican coffee baron Roberto Castillo, who "looks, acts, and dresses like Dick Tracy. He won't leave home without wearing a bright yellow overcoat and fedora." Roberto has forced his wife Sylvia to wear nothing but 1930-style suits and to go by the name Tess Trueheart.

Roberto has a large collection of Dick Tracy comics and movie memorabilia. He paid a Japanese electronics wizard to build him a wristwatch communicator. According to a friend, "He has one of his assistants call him on it when he's at parties. Roberto really enjoys these make-believe games."

Roberto is also infatuated with the Breathless Mahoney character. He located a Madonna look-alike and flew her to Costa Rica from the United States. He swears he's never been unfaithful, however, because Dick Tracy wouldn't have sex outside marriage.

Sylvia's mom, Conchita Ruiz, isn't amused by this.

"My poor daughter is the laughing stock of San Jose society. The only reason people don't laugh at Roberto openly is because he is so powerful. He is throwing away a perfect marriage because of some dumb comic-book character."

Latin American wives (particularly women named Sylvia who are married to coffee barons) are reported to be dreading the premiere of The Rocketeer and there is even talk about banning the sale of rocket-packs to any country south of Mexico.

More on this story as it develops. In the meantime, what say we move on to this week's pick hits?

• Star Trek: The Mirror Universe Saga by Mike W. Barr, Tom Sutton, and Ricardo Villagran (DC Comics, $19.95). This trade paperback collects issues #9-16 of DC's first series of Star Trek comics. The saga's initial premise is basic enough: Captain James T. Kirk's evil counterpart from a parallel universe is back to avenge his 15-years-past defeat. But the twists and turns Barr takes us through as we careen through these tales are breathtaking. It's one heck of a ride, and the final curve is nothing short of brilliant.

Barr, the world's second-best Black Lightning writer, is comic-dom's best when it comes to Star Trek. (Your own humble reviewer would immodestly claim the second spot for himself, were it not for the fact that all I tried to do in my three issues was to follow Barr's lead.) Kudos, as well, to the artists and whoever came up with the idea of collecting these stories. Definitely recommended.

• Sky Masters of the Space Force #1 (Pure Imagination, $7.95). Space adventure on a more modest, but no less compelling, scale is featured in this Greg Theakston production. It reprints the first several months of the 1950s newspaper strip by Jack Kirby and Wally Wood.

The stories by Dick and Dave Wood are standard fare, enjoyable if less than outstanding, but the art is among the finest and most striking ever to appear in the daily papers. This kind of quality has been all but banished from the medium today. Here's a chance to see it again, along with eight pages of full-color Sunday strips. Don't miss the chance.

• Toxic! #1-3 (Apocalypse, $2.95 each). The future just got a whole lot nastier. As that comparatively wholesome British weekly 2000 A.D. draws closer to its title year, it has started to show those inevitable signs of age. Only "Judge Dredd" and the rare "Future-Shock" tale have any bite to them these days.

This upstart weekly, on the other hand, is all teeth. Pat Mills and Kev O'Neill have taken their superhero-hunting "Marshal Law" way, way over the edge. He's not alone out there, either, what with the return of "Bogie Man" by John Wagner, Alan Grant, and Cam Kennedy and the debut of "Accident Man" by Mills, Tony Skinner, and Martin Emond. Not for the faint of heart, but recommended nonetheless.

• This just in: Cheerios, that classic American breakfast food, has just reached its 50th anniversary. All the more reason to read those expiration dates at your supermarket.

More hard-hitting journalism next week.

IF YOU'RE SEARCHING FOR A SPECIAL ITEM, ADVERTISE FOR IT!

'Platinum Spider-Man' auction to benefit Girl Scout troop

A "platinum edition" copy of Spider-Man #1 is being auctioned to benefit a local Girl Scout troop. At the request of the troop leader, Marvel Comics' Lou Bank sent a copy of the highly sought-after comic book to the Girl Scout troop.

"We are delighted to be able to help local Girl Scouts," said Rick Shanklin, president of the local comic-book chain, Mindbridge Books. "Mindbridge Books has been around for over 15 years, and I've always donated door prizes and gift certificates to local charities. We're in the process of procuring several cases of the Captain America War Against Drugs comic book for the local Lions Club, in fact. But this Spider-Man auction is pretty big."

Only 10,000 copies of the "platinum edition" Spider-Man #1 were printed, and they are all easily distinguished from the regular edition (special metallic ink on a heavier cover, an additional 10 pages of full-page art by Todd McFarlane). Several copies were sold locally several months ago for $300 each, but the going price now in some parts of the country is as high as $1000 — if you can even find a copy for sale.

"Just to give you some idea of how rare this book will be in years to come, consider that there were over 2.4 million copies of the regular edition printed, compared to a mere 10,000 copies of the 'platinum,'" Shanklin said.

As of May 1, the high bid on the "platinum edition" Spider-Man #1 was only $160. Bids can be placed in person at either Mindbridge Books store, or by phone if you're a regular customer. For interested bidders not in the area, a toll-free number has been set up: 1-(800)-783-7880. Bidding will close on May 31 at 8 p.m.; if the successful high bidder fails to claim the book within three days, the next highest bidder will be notified.

Mindbridge Books is located in Dundalk in the Merritt Park Shopping Center, at the intersection of Merritt Boulevard, Holabird Avenue, and Wise Avenue. The number is 284-7880, and the stores are open until 8 p.m. every day except Sunday (Sunday hours are 12-4).

Mindbridge Books' other store is located on Belair Road in Perry Hall, four miles north of the Beltway (695). They are open weekdays until 7 p.m.; Sunday hours are from 11 to 3. Phone: 256-7880.

Collins, Crusin' hold benefit for Ronald McDonald Houses

Crusin' — the classic-rock band in which mystery novelist and comic-book writer Max Allan Collins has appeared for 15 years — will be appearing at a charity dance at the Rosemont Holiday Inn on River Road in Rosemont, Ill., Saturday, June 1, from 9 p.m. till 1 a.m. The group recently completed Bullets!, an album which will be available in June on CD and cassette tape from the California comics-oriented record label, Beat Brothers.

Crusin' began in 1966 (under the name Daybreakers), and has a long history of national recording releases, beginning with an Atlantic Records single in 1967. Goldmine called Crusin' "eminently danceable and always listenable."

The benefit will be in conjunction with the Chicago Science Fiction Spectacular held at the Rosemont O'Hare Expo Center, 9301 West Bryn Mawr (at River Road), Rosemont, Ill., May 21, June 1, and June 2.

There will be several comic-book and media celebrities attending the party, including Bill Mumy and Miguel Ferrer, who also appear with Collins in "Seduction of the Innocent," the comics-pro "super-group" that appears at comics conventions from time to time.

The cover charge at the door will be $2 per person with a no-host bar. All proceeds from the cover charge will be donated to both Chicagoland Ronald McDonald Houses.

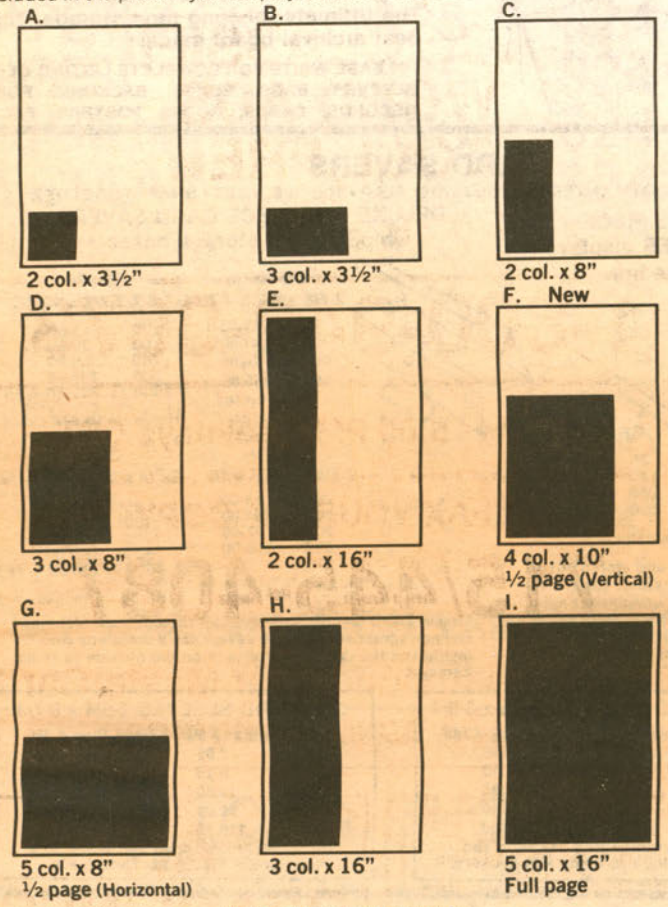
HOW TO ADVERTISE...

Decide what type of ad you need. CBG has several to choose from:

DISPLAY ADVERTISING:
These ads appear throughout COMIC BUYER'S GUIDE, and are available in the eight sizes listed below. Typesetting, photos, artwork, borders and logos are all included in the price of your display ad. Rates and sizes are as follows:



(Price per consecutive issue)

AD SIZE	1 ISSUE	6 ISSUES	13 ISSUES	26 ISSUES	52 ISSUES
A. 2 col. x 3½" (3 13/16" x 3½")	$51.85	$50.55	$47.96	$45.37	$42.78
B. 3 col. x 3½" (5 13/16" x 3½")	68.70	66.98	63.55	60.11	56.68
C. 2 col. x 8" (3 13/16" x 8")	95.06	92.68	87.93	83.18	78.42
D. 3 col. x 8" (5 13/16" x 8")	140.74	137.22	130.18	123.15	116.11
E. 2 col. x 16" (3 13/16" x 16")	192.56	187.75	178.12	168.49	158.86
F. 4 col. x 10" (7 13/16" x 10")	219.73	214.24	203.25	192.26	181.28
G. 5 col. x 8" (9 13/16" x 8")	219.73	214.24	203.25	192.26	181.28
H. 3 col. x 16" (5 13/16" x 16")	269.11	262.38	248.93	235.47	222.02
I. 5 col x 16" (9 13/16" x 16")	395.00	385.13	365.38	345.63	325.88

COMICS TRADER:
This is an area reserved for the "little guy" who wants no-frills advertising with a price to match. $29.00 buys one of the 12 equal spaces on a Comics Trader page. These spaces can be bought in any multiple of the $29.00 unit. We'll reduce the ad and handle all the production - just design your ad on an 8 x 10" space and sent it with payment. Remember to keep your design simple so your ad will be readable when reduced.

COLLECTOR'S SHOWCASE:
This cost-efficient format in COMIC BUYER'S GUIDE offers you typeset space at a discount. Collector's Showcase units are approximately business card size. You may buy as many units as you want for an ad at a cost of $19.00 per box. All typesetting, photos, art, borders and logos are done by Krause Publications and are included in the price.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY:
One column ads, 1-3 inches in length, must appear in the classified section. They may be placed under the various classified headings. This gives you the advantage of targeting the collectors you want to reach while standing out among the smaller word ads in classified. Rates and sizes are as follows:

AD SIZE	1 ISSUE	6 ISSUES	13 ISSUES	26 ISSUES	52 ISSUES
A. 1 col. x 1" (1 13/16" x 1")	$14.81	$14.44	$13.70	$12.96	$12.22
B. 1 col x 2" (1 13/16" x 2")	20.98	20.46	19.41	18.36	17.31
C. 1 col. x 3" (1 13/16" x 3")	27.17	26.49	25.13	23.77	22.42

CLASSIFIED WORD ADS:
Our "Classifieds" are thriving and heavily read. Base rates are 20¢ per word with discounts for multiple issues. Please print and punctuate - we are not responsible for errors due to long-hand and illegible copy. For more information see the classified ad form in the classified section.

RETAILER DIRECTORY:
This is a comprehensive listing of comic shops in and around the U.S. $3.00 a week leads buyers to your store by listing your name, address, phone number, and ten words of copy you choose. May be purchased in 26 or 52 week increments only. For more details see the Retailer Directory pages of this issue.

*Minimum size color ad 24 inches.

GENERAL INFORMATION

A. PAYMENT: Ads must be accompanied by payment. You may pay with a check, money order, or credit card.

B. CREDIT CARDS: We will accept the following credit cards: VISA, MasterCard, MasterCard II, Barclay Card, Access Card, Eurocard, Diamond Card, Union Card.

C. DEADLINE: For all advertising is noon each Wednesday, unless otherwise stated on deadline card.

D. TERMS: Cash with copy only. All advertisers must provide reference information for the confidential use of the publisher should questions arise.

E. CONTRACT RATES are available for 6, 13, 26, or 52 consecutive issues. Contract rates apply to fulfillment of contract terms. Cancellation of a contract by the advertiser allows the publisher to reinvoice covered ads at the earned rate. This rate card is a part of the advertising contract.

F. MINORS are required to furnish a certificate of responsibility from their parent or guardian before their advertising can be accepted. Write for our convenient form.

G. ERRORS: Typewritten copy is recommended. The publisher is not responsible for errors resulting from longhand or illegible copy, or changes submitted by telephone. The publisher's liability for any error shall not exceed the cost of the space occupied by that error.

H. LAYOUT and design services are provided by Krause Publications for advertisers who do not submit camera-ready copy. Due to the creative and subjective nature of these services, credits will not be allowed for conceptual variations.

I. GRADING: Items offered in any ad must be properly described as to condition, conforming to the standards set forth in Overstreet's "The Comic Book Price Guide". Advertisers may also exercise the option of grading offerings by applying a unique personal system, providing the standards applied are detailed in the ad to avoid confusion.

J. RETURN PRIVILEGE: Except as otherwise specified in any ad, an advertiser must accept the return of any merchandise postmarked within five working days of its receipt by a customer.

K. P.O. BOX ADS are allowed, but permanent home address or place of business of the advertiser must be filed with the publisher before advertisements may be printed.

L. SPECIAL PAGE POSITIONS are available at a premium. Inquire for details.

M. ADVERTISING AGENCIES: There are no agency discounts.

N. CAMERA READY display ads qualify for a 15% discount. Copy must be ready for camera without additional paste-up or film work required. No charge for reductions, enlargements or mail response key change. Comics Trader, Collector's Showcase and classified word ads do not qualify for the camera ready discount.

O. SPACE RESERVATIONS available for camera ready ads only. Must be made prior to ad deadline. Reserved space must be paid for even if ad does not arrive on time.

P. PRE-PRINTED INSERTS are available in Comics Buyer's Guide. Inquire for additional information and technical specifications.

Q. CIRCULATION is throughout the United States and Canada by subscription and single copy sales by agents in shops and other outlets.

R. PROOF OF PUBLICATION: Tear sheets of new display ads are mailed to those advertisers requesting this service. We regret we cannot provide this service to classified advertisers.

S. NOTE: All advertising orders are accepted subject to the terms and provisions of the current rate card. Krause Publications, Inc., reserves the right to decline advertising or suspend advertising privileges for such periods of time as in its discretion it sees fit, for any reason whatsoever, irrespective of the validity of the reasons for such declination or suspension. The forwarding of an order is construed as an acceptance of all rates and conditions under which advertising is at the time sold. The publisher will not be bound by any conditions, printed or otherwise, appearing on any order for advertising space, billing instructions or copy instructions, which conflict with its policies. Advertisers and advertising agencies assume liability for all content (including text representation and illustrations) of advertisements printed, and also assume responsibility for any claims arising therefrom made against the publishers. It is the advertiser's or agency's responsibility to obtain appropriate releases on any item or individual pictured in their advertising. All agreements are subject to strikes, accidents, fire, acts of God, or other contingencies beyond the publisher's control. The publisher reserves the right to edit any advertising copy to conform with its standard advertising policies, and to reject any ad which in its opinion is unethical or objectionable for any reason. This publication does not guarantee and disclaims all knowledge of the right of seller or buyer to contract.
